SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 2012

8:00 am – 9:00 am CLE Plenary Session

The Qualcomm Quandary: Compromise versus Forfeiture in Multi-Layer Insurance Settlements

The Comerica/Qualcomm line of cases, conditioning excess coverage upon full-limits payments by underlying insurers, creates new dilemmas—both for insureds settling large claims and for lower-level insurers seeking “haircuts.” Can they compromise without forfeiting higher-level coverage? Coverage counsel, brokers and in-house counsel debate how to resolve—or prevent—these dilemmas.

Speakers: Kali N. Bracey, John Buchanan, Robert Cusumano, Linda Foster, Carolyn Polikoff

9:05 am – 10:05 am CLE Breakout Sessions

How Much Is That Policy Worth, Anyway?

An Analysis of Complex Limits Questions in the Context of Long-Tail Claims

What happens after the “number of occurrences” and “allocation” questions are answered? This program will address issues such as: What limits are available? Are the limits annualized? What about non-cumulation and batch clauses? What amounts are payable outside limits? How does a paying insurer preserve its claim against non-paying insurers?

Speakers: Wen-Shin Cheng, Alan P. Jacobus, Hilary Jarvis, Peri N. Mahaley, Linda A. Powell

9:05 am – 10:05 am

Excuse Me Mr. Trustee, Have You Seen My Insurance Proceeds?

This program examines coverage issues—primarily those involving D&O insurance—in the context of a corporate bankruptcy. Among the issues to be discussed are: the insured versus insured exclusion, the impact of the bankruptcy code on D&O coverage, and how bankruptcy affects insurance for directors and officers.

Speakers: Eric G. Barber, Michael Davisson, Elizabeth Neumann

9:05 am – 10:05 am

Insurance Coverage for Data Breaches, Denial-of-Service Attacks, and Cybersecurity Events, and the Tidal Wave of Class Action Lawsuits Following Data Breach Disclosures.

There has been a recent tidal wave of data breaches, network interruptions, and cyberattacks, resulting in countless class actions. This program will explore how insurance coverage may help fund the costs to defend these lawsuits. Would your insurance policies cover those events? What coverages are available in the marketplace?

Speakers: Rick Bortnick, Scott N. Godes, Jennifer Smith, William T. Um, Hon. Carl West

9:05 am – 10:05 am

Recovery of Consequential Damages Resulting from an Insurer's Breach of Contract

This program will address whether consequential damages can be recovered from an insurer for breach of contract, whether bad faith is required, and the conceptual underpinnings for such a claim. It will use Bi-Economy Market v. Harleysville as the starting point.

Speakers: Shaun H. Crosner, Jay M. Levin, Kellyn J. Muller, Michael A. Troisi

10:20 am – 11:20 am CLE Breakout Sessions

It Never Hurts to Ask and May Hurt Not to Ask: The Use of Special Questions to Resolve Coverage Issues

When underlying cases go to a trial, insurers want jurors to decide factual questions affecting coverage. Some courts requires insurers to ask these questions to avoid a subsequent coverage trial or waiver; and policyholders often object. This panel will discuss the pros and cons of using special verdict forms at trial.

Speakers: Semha Alwaya, David Grossbaum, Linda Kornfeld, Meghan C. Moore

10:20 am – 11:20 am

Bringing Home the Bacon: Emerging Issues in Food Insurance Coverage

The Food Safety and Modernization Act has exposure for food companies. This program will examine the Act and the traditional and new product recall policies that respond to it.

Speakers: Joseph Bermudez, Robert D. Chesler, Philip Hecht, Rosa Tumialan

Current and Emerging Reinsurance Risks (2012)

What new risks most affect reinsurance books during the “post-asbestos era”? This panel will review losses occasioned by mortgage-backed securities, clergy abuse, climate change and nanotechnology. The panel will also address the magnitude of losses, unique issues raised by each species of risk, and problems of proof and reinsurance presentation issues such as aggregation of loss.

Speakers: David A. Attisani, Maria Enriquez, Frederic Gindraux

10:20 am – 11:20 am
