About the Author

Dr. Tim Kaye is a Professor of Law at Stetson University College of Law. He is the author of several books, including Product Liability: Cases, Commentary, and Conundra (2012), and has edited several more, including Law, Justice and Miscommunications: Essays in Applied Legal Philosophy (2011). He is currently working on an innovative web-based book on the Law of Torts.

Before joining Stetson, Professor Kaye taught at the University of Birmingham, England, where he served as undergraduate admissions dean and taught and published in the fields of torts, jurisprudence, and education law. He has also taught at Vytautas Magnus University in Kaunas, Lithuania. He co-authored Blackstone’s Book of Moots and co-founded the Oxford University Press National Mooting Competition.

Professor Kaye was the first chairman of the LNAT Consortium Ltd., a company formed by eight top British law schools to oversee the National Admissions Test for Law. Formerly a consultant with one of the largest education law practices in the United Kingdom, he has advised numerous schools, colleges, and universities. On three occasions, he was commissioned by the Estonian government to carry out evaluations of law teaching at higher education institutions in Estonia. He co-wrote the United Kingdom’s general guidance for schools on the Human Rights Act.