Editors

Erin L. Ebeler joined Woods & Aitken in 2008 after clerking in the firm for two years. As a member of the firm’s litigation department, she works with clients in the commercial, construction, and labor and employment practice areas to develop legal and common sense solutions during all stages of the litigation process. Ms. Ebeler is the immediate past chair of the ABA Forum on Construction Law’s Division 6 (Workforce Management and Human Resources). In 2008, she graduated with highest distinction from the University of Nebraska College of Law and was editor-in-chief of the Nebraska Law Review. She is licensed to practice law in Nebraska and Colorado.

Susan Fisher Stevens has been a member of the ABA and the Forum on Construction Law since 1984, serving on the Forum’s Governing Committee, as Chair of the Forum’s Special Programs and Education Committee, (SPEC), as Chair of the Forum In-House Counsel Division, (Division 11), and several years as a member of the Steering Committee of Division 6, Workforce Management and Human Resources. After 18 years in private litigation practice, she moved to the Overland Park, Kansas area in 2000, where she began contract work for the Sprint Legal Department in the Real Estate and Construction Law group. She is currently Sprint’s in-house construction law attorney. Prior to moving to Kansas, she was a shareholder in the Montana firm of Wright Tolliver & Guthals, P.C., where her litigation practice emphasized construction law, real estate, and labor & employment law. She graduated with honors from the University of Montana with a B.A. in Political Science, and received her J.D. from the University of Idaho College of Law. She has been admitted to practice in Kansas, Missouri and Montana.

Michael G. Murphy, P.E. is a shareholder in the Orlando office of Greenberg Traurig where he is a board certified construction lawyer. He represents owners and contractors in pre-litigation disputes through trial. He regularly provides advice on contracts for construction. He also has an active practice advising clients regarding the occupational safety and health and compliance with OSHA regulations and contest of citations through trial. Michael has a bachelor’s degree in Civil Engineering, a master’s degree in Structures and Foundations and his law degree. He was a structural engineer for ten years before beginning the practice of law. He is professional engineer in the state of Florida and is admitted to practice law in Florida.

Robert J. Orelup is Senior Counsel at Herman & Kitt Properties, Inc. (HKP), in Indianapolis, Indiana, where he is responsible for the national management and direction of various legal areas of the company, including labor and employment, litigation, construction, contracts and risk management. Prior to joining HKP, Mr. Orelup was an attorney in private practice in Indianapolis, where he regularly advised and represented clients on legal matters pertaining to labor-management relations, employment law, construction site safety issues, and construction-related claims and disputes. Mr. Orelup earned a Bachelor of Arts in English in 1996, with distinction and honors, followed by his Juris
Doctor in 1999, cum laude, both from Indiana University in Bloomington. Mr. Orelup is a member of the ABA Forum on Construction Law, where he is a former steering committee member and chair of Division 6, Workforce Management and Human Resources. Mr. Orelup has been a frequent author and presenter to national and state associations and businesses on construction, labor-management relations, employment and HR training topics.