About the Editor

Michael Tien serves as counsel for the Democratic staff of the House Transportation and Infrastructure’s Aviation Subcommittee. Michael’s remit is to advise the T&I Committee Ranking Member and Aviation Subcommittee Ranking Member on a wide-ranging set of issues regarding civil aviation, including aviation safety, aircraft certification, consumer protection, and unmanned aircraft systems, or drones.

Prior to joining the T&I Committee, Michael worked as an attorney-advisor in the Office of General Counsel at the U.S. Department of Transportation in Washington, D.C. During his time at DOT, he handled legislative matters related to several of DOT’s modal administrations. Michael also served on multiple special teams created to advance Secretarial initiatives, and he was detailed to the Federal Highway Administration to assist in the development and issuance of implementing guidance for the agency’s programs and other authorities following passage of the Fixing America’s Surface Transportation Act in 2015.

Michael is a graduate of the University of Michigan (BA) and Loyola University Chicago School of Law (JD). He is admitted to practice law in the State of Illinois and is an active member of the American Bar Association’s Section of Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice, the Asian Pacific American Bar Association of the Greater Washington D.C. Area, and the Congressional Asian Pacific American Staff Association.