About the Editors and Chapter Authors ix
Foreword xvii
Preface and Editors’ Acknowledgments xix

CHAPTER 1
Introduction to Blockchain Technology 1

1. Bitcoin and the Origin of Blockchain Technology 2
   (a) The Role of Digital Signatures 3
   (b) The Double-Spending Problem 4
   (c) Achieving Consensus through Proof of Work 7
   (d) The Robustness of the Blockchain 9
   (e) Pseudonymity 10
   (f) Forks 10

2. Blockchain beyond Bitcoin 11
   (a) Currencies and Payment Systems 11
   (b) Distributing the Ledger 13
   (c) Blockchain Computing 14
   (d) Permissioned Blockchains 16
   (e) Platforms for Permissioned Blockchains 18
   (f) Hybrid Chains 20

3. Blockchain for Business: Advantages and Disadvantages 20
   (a) Advantages 20
   (b) Disadvantages 22

4. Conclusion 23

CHAPTER 2
Cryptocurrencies, Initial Coin Offerings, and Financial Regulations 25

1. Cryptocurrencies 26
   (a) How Do We Define Virtual Currency? 27
   (b) How Do We Define Cryptocurrency? 28
   (c) How Do We Define Coins and Tokens? 29
2. Initial Coin Offerings
   (a) What Is an ICO? 31
   (b) What Are Some Significant ICOs? 33
3. Other Financial Blockchain Applications
   (a) Securities 35
   (b) Derivatives 37
   (c) Financial Services 39
4. Securities Laws and Regulations
   (a) Federal Securities Laws 41
   (b) The Definition of “Security” and the Howey Test 48
   (c) SEC Enforcement Actions 53
   (d) Other SEC Guidance 58
   (e) Private Securities Litigation Related to ICOs 59
   (f) Capital Raising Implications 62
   (g) State Enforcement and Blue Sky Laws 66
5. Commodities Laws and Regulations
   (a) The Commodity Exchange Act 68
   (b) CFTC Enforcement Actions 70
   (c) Other CFTC Guidance 73
6. Tax Laws and Regulations
7. Appendix

CHAPTER 3
Smart Code and Smart Contracts 87

1. Smart-Contract Platforms
   (a) Third-Party Platform 90
   (b) Counterparty Platform 91
   (c) Peer-to-Peer Platform 91
   (d) Counterparty-to-Counterparty Platforms 92
   (e) Permissionless Platforms 92
   (f) Other Platforms 92
2. Ramifications of Smart-Contract Platforms
   (a) Role of Platform as Intermediary 93
   (b) Risk of Platform Security Breaches 94
   (c) Risk of Mistake in Smart Code 95
   (d) Cost of Executing Smart Contracts 96
   (e) Risk of Platform Insolvency (and Lack of Portability) 96
   (f) Regulatory Risks 97
Contents

3. Enforceability, Performance, and Termination of Smart Contracts 97
   (a) General Application of Contract Law 97
   (b) Enforceability 98
   (c) Performance 107
   (d) Terminating or Amending “Immutable” Smart Contacts 110
4. Dispute Resolution of Smart Contracts 112
   (a) Governing Language 112
   (b) Specialist Courts 113
   (c) Arbitration 114
   (d) Dispute Resolution Services 115
5. Conclusion 116

CHAPTER 4
Blockchain Technology, Security, and Privacy 117

1. Data Security and the Blockchain 117
   (a) Existential Threats 117
   (b) Ordinary Threats 119
2. Data Privacy and the Blockchain 122
3. Legal Consequences 126
   (a) Civil Liability 127
   (b) Criminal Liability 132
4. Conclusion 133

CHAPTER 5
Antitrust Regulation and Blockchain Technology 135

1. Antitrust Framework: Formation and Operation of Blockchain 137
   (a) Sherman Act Section 1 140
   (b) Sherman Act Section 2 142
   (c) Section 5 of the FTC Act 143
   (d) Clayton Act Section 7 144
2. Key Antitrust Issues for Blockchain 146
   (a) Collusion 146
   (b) Improper Information Exchanges 148
   (c) Excluding Rivals 156
3. Conclusion 161
Chapter 6
Cryptocurrencies and the Regulation of Money Transmission

1. Federal Regulation of Money Transmitters
   - (a) The Bank Secrecy Act and FinCEN
   - (b) Money Transmitters
   - (c) FinCEN’s Rules in the Virtual Currency Context
   - (d) Registration and Compliance
   - (e) Enforcement and Liability
   - (f) Additional Regulatory Considerations
2. State Regulation of Money Transmitters
   - (a) State Money Transmitter Acts
   - (b) The Uniform Regulation of Virtual-Currency Businesses Act
   - (c) New York
   - (d) California
3. International Regulatory Considerations
4. Conclusion

Chapter 7
State Laws Addressing Blockchain Technology

1. State Laws Governing the Use of Blockchain in Corporate Records, Including the Stock Ledger
   - (a) Delaware—Authorizing Corporate Recordkeeping by Blockchain
   - (b) Wyoming—Authorizing Corporate Recordkeeping by Distributed or Electronic Records
   - (c) Arizona—Authorizing Blockchain as a Writing for Purposes of the Corporation Law
2. State Laws Governing Smart Contracts and Blockchain as Electronic Records
   - (a) Vermont—Making Blockchain Records Self-Authenticating and Admissible
   - (b) Arizona—Authorizing Blockchain Signatures as Electronic Records and Authorizing Smart Contracts
   - (c) Nevada—Authorizing Blockchains as Electronic Records
   - (a) New York—Regulating Virtual Currency by Licensing
(b) Wyoming—Exempting Virtual Currency from Money Transmission Laws and Property Taxation, Exempting Utility Tokens from State Securities Laws, and Fostering Blockchain Business Through a New Form of LLC 198
(c) California—Legislative Attempts 199
(d) New Hampshire—Exempting Virtual Currency from Money Transmitter Registration Requirements 201
(e) Many States in the Middle—Enacting Virtual-Currency Laws or Adding New Regulatory Guidance 201
4. State Government Task Forces and Initiatives 202
(a) Delaware Blockchain Initiative 202
(b) Illinois Initiatives 204
(c) Vermont Blockchain Studies 210
(d) Arizona “Sandbox” 212
5. Conclusion—A Word About the Future 213

CHAPTER 8
Disputes, Liability, and Jurisdiction in the Blockchain Era 215

1. Identifying and Allocating Risk and Responsibility from the Use of Blockchain Technology 215
   (a) Blockchain Participants 215
   (b) Means of Resolving Disputes Arising from the Use of Blockchain Technology 218

2. National and State Jurisdiction Issues Arising from Blockchain Use 222
   (a) Traditional Ideas of Jurisdiction 222
   (b) Assumptions of Traditional Judicial Jurisdiction That May Not Be Present for Blockchain 227
   (c) Options to Address Jurisdictional Concerns 230

3. Enforcement of Court Judgments in Blockchain Disputes 233
   (a) Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Judgments in U.S. Courts 234
   (b) Recognition and Enforcement of U.S. Judgments in Foreign Courts 236
   (c) Application to Blockchain Technology 236
