

About the Author

Stuart H. Deming represents domestic and foreign clients in a range of business and investigatory matters. He provides advice on international transactions, develops and assists in the implementation of compliance programs, directs and conducts due diligence and internal investigations, and represents clients before federal and state agencies and international institutions. His regulatory practice focuses on the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) and a range of anti-bribery legal regimes like the UK Bribery Act, Canada's Corruption of Foreign Public Officials Act, and what is often referred to as Brazil's Clean Company Act. As a certified public accountant with an MBA, he has dealt with related accounting issues.

Mr. Deming began his legal career as an Assistant U.S. Attorney in Michigan where he managed a major grand jury investigation of kick-backs by a major German multinational corporation and litigated a landmark case requiring the production of foreign records by the Deutsche Bank AG. He later joined the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington, D.C., where he managed the investigation of major corporations for violations of U.S. securities laws, including the successful investigation of a Fortune 500 company for accounting fraud. Before going into private practice, Mr. Deming prosecuted public figures, foreign nationals, and executives of major corporations at the Tax Division of the U.S. Department of Justice.

After joining the Washington, D.C. law firm of Steptoe & Johnson in 1987, Mr. Deming was directly involved with the investigation of a major defense contractor. He later served with the U.S. Department of State in conjunction with the 1990 Economic Summit in Houston and then with the U.S. Department of Defense. In 1992, Mr. Deming returned to the Department of Justice to serve as one of the special prosecutors in a highly sensitive investigation involving many members of the U.S. Congress. In 1996, he was a founding member of INMAN DEMING LLP where he practiced in Washington, D.C. and Michigan until 2003 where he has since practiced with DEMING PLLC in Washington, D.C. and in Michigan.

A recognized expert, Mr. Deming has written and spoken extensively in the United States and abroad on the FCPA and other anti-bribery initiatives. He is the author of Oxford University Press' Anti-Bribery Laws in Common Law Jurisdictions; the coauthor with a leading English barrister and a highly-regarded corporate compliance official of a best-selling ABA Publication: The FCPA and UK Bribery Act: A Ready Reference for Business; and the author of another best-selling ABA Publication: The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and the New International Norms. For many years, he was a member of the Board of Editorial Advisers to the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act Reporter; he co-chaired the ABA's national institutes on the FCPA; and he co-founded what is now the ABA International Section's Anti-Corruption Committee.

Mr. Deming received his B.A., M.B.A., and J.D. from the University of Michigan. He is also licensed as a CPA.