

About the Author

David W. Tollen is a widely recognized authority on information technology contracts. He is a lawyer, law school lecturer, trainer, and expert witness.

David practices law in San Francisco with Sycamore Legal, P.C., an IT and IP boutique law firm he founded. He and his staff represent both buyers and sellers in cloud computing agreements, software licenses, and other IT contracts. They also provide advice and assistance related to data security, e-commerce, privacy, fintech, and intellectual property.

David also serves as an expert witness in litigation about IT contracts.

In addition, David is the founder of Tech Contracts Academy™, LLC, which provides training on IT contracts for procurement officers, contract managers, and IT staff, as well as for lawyers. And David teaches IT contracts at the U.C. Berkeley Law School.

David graduated with honors from Harvard Law School and has degrees from Cambridge University and U.C. Berkeley. He has served as General Counsel of a publicly traded software company, as VP of Business Development with a profitable technology startup, and as an attorney with a global law firm, Morrison & Foerster. In his spare time, he writes fiction that uses fantasy to teach history and science to young people. He is the author of the multiple award-winner The Jericho River: An Adventure Through History and of Secrets of Hominea.

You can reach David or learn more about his legal and expert work through his law firm, Sycamore Legal, at www.SycamoreLegal.com.

You can also reach David and learn about his work as a trainer through Tech Contracts Academy, at www.TechContracts.com.

That website also serves as an online resource for this book, providing downloadable sample clauses and full-length contracts, clause updates, and articles about IT, IP, and privacy.

Finally, you can learn more about David's fiction at www.DavidTollen.com