

About the Editors

Executive Editors

Jeannie C. Frey is a health care attorney practicing in Chicago, Illinois. She is currently the senior vice president of legal affairs and general counsel for Resurrection Health Care, a Catholic-sponsored nonprofit health system. Ms. Frey was the lead editor of the Guidebook for Directors of Nonprofit Corporations (ABA 2002) and served as the primary author of the Guide to Nonprofit Governance in the Wake of Sarbanes-Oxley (ABA 2005). Ms. Frey is a former chair of the Nonprofit Organizations Committee of the ABA Business Law Section. She received the Outstanding Nonprofit Lawyer Award from the ABA's Business Law Section in 2000.

Lisa A. Runquist is a principal in the law firm of Runquist & Associates, with offices in California, specializing in representing nonprofit organizations. She was the first winner of the Outstanding Nonprofit Lawyer Award from the ABA Business Law Section. She has authored numerous publications on nonprofit and religious organizations, including The ABC's of Nonprofits (author; ABA 2005) and Nonprofit Resources (ed., ABA 2007). She has been active in both California State Bar and ABA Business Law Section Committees relating to tax-exempt and nonprofit organizations. She served as chair of the California State Bar's Nonprofit and Unincorporated Organizations Committee and chair of the ABA Business Law Section's Nonprofit Organizations Committee. She is currently an adviser to the Uniform Laws Committee's Drafting Committee on the Regulation of Charities.

Managing Editor

Patricia A. Tauchert is in private practice in Dundee, Illinois. She is a former corporate attorney and has 30 years of experience advising businesses in all aspects of their operations. She is the past chair of the Religious Organizations Subcommittee of the Nonprofit Organizations Committee of the ABA Business Law Section. She is currently the chair of the Westside Advisory Council of World Vision's Chicago Storehouse and provides counsel to the Board of Bible Related Ministries, an organization that assists churches experiencing internal conflict or transition issues.

About the Authors

Amy S. Beard is an attorney in the trial department of the law firm of McDermott Will & Emery LLP. She is based in the firm's New York office.

Cheryl Besenjak is the copyright director of Willow Creek Community Church in South Barrington, Illinois, and founder and former CEO of The Permissions Group, Ltd., a firm specializing in obtaining copyright licenses.

Walter D. Cupkovic is the co-chair of the Real Estate Practice Group of Thompson Coburn LLP. He has extensive experience in all aspects of real estate acquisition, sale, construction, and development for a wide variety of commercial and other clients.

Michael D. Dillon is an attorney in the law firm of McDermott Will & Emery LLP, based in the firm's New York office. He is a member of the firm's trial department, focusing his practice on complex litigation matters.

Eric Rassbach is national litigation director of the Becket Fund for Religious Liberty, a nonpartisan, interfaith, public interest law firm and nongovernmental organization (NGO) dedicated to protecting the free expression of all religious traditions.

Richard H. Reimer is the senior vice president of legal services of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers (ASCAP).

Stephen J. Riccardulli is a partner in the law firm of McDermott Will & Emery LLP, based in the firm's New York office. As a member of the firm's trial department and environmental group, Stephen focuses his practice on complex litigation matters, including class actions and multi-party mass tort cases.

Lisa A. Runquist is a principal in the law firm of Runquist & Associates, with offices in California, specializing in representing nonprofit organizations.

Roger Severino is an attorney in the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Department of Justice. He was legal counsel for the Becket Fund for Religious Liberty, a nonpartisan, interfaith, public interest law firm and NGO dedicated to protecting the free expression of all religious traditions.

Patrick B. Sternal is an attorney at Runquist & Associates. He practices in the area of tax-exempt and nonprofit organization law and is the current chair of the Religious Organizations Subcommittee of the Nonprofit Organizations Committee of the ABA's Business Law Section.

Ann T. Stillman is a partner in the Stolar Partnership, LLP, in St. Louis, Missouri, where her practice focus areas include the representation of charitable and tax-exempt organizations, labor and employment law, corporate law, taxation, and constitutional law.

Patricia A. Tauchert is in private practice in Dundee, Illinois. She is a former corporate attorney and has 30 years experience advising businesses in all aspects of their operations.