CONTENTS

Foreword ................................................................. xi
About the Authors .................................................. xxi
Acknowledgments ...................................................... xxiii

Chapter One: INTRODUCTION ................................. 1
  How Far We’ve Come ............................................. 2
  Where We Need to Go ........................................... 3
  How Science Comes into Play ................................. 3
  Assumptions ....................................................... 4
  About Our Language .............................................. 5
  Developmentally Appropriate Parenting Plans ............. 6
  How to Use This Information ................................. 6
  Conclusion ........................................................ 7

Chapter Two: RELEVANT DEVELOPMENTAL FACTORS... 9
  Attachment ......................................................... 9
  Temperament ...................................................... 14
  Cognitive Development ......................................... 16
    • Sensorimotor Period ....................................... 17
    • Preoperational Period .................................... 18
    • Concrete Operations Period ............................... 18
    • Formal Operations Period ............................... 19
    • Object Permanence ........................................ 19
    • Time .......................................................... 20
  Language Development .......................................... 21
Contents

Emotional Development ........................................ 23
  • Self-Efficacy and Self-Regulation ....................... 24
Conclusion ...................................................... 25

Chapter Three: INFANT TO TWO YEARS OLD ............ 27
  Introduction ................................................. 27
  Developmental Factors ..................................... 28
  Fear of Strangers and Separation Anxiety ............... 30
  Infants and Their Fathers .................................. 32
  Overnight Visits and Attachment ......................... 33
  Conclusions of Other Experts ............................. 35
  Rationale for Our Recommendations ..................... 39

Recommendations for a Parenting-Plan Schedule:
  Infant to Two Years Old ................................. 40
  • Birth to Four Months ................................. 40
  • Four to Eight Months ................................. 42
  • Eight to Twelve Months ............................. 44
  • One to Two Years ...................................... 45

Chapter Four: TWO TO FIVE YEARS ....................... 47
  Introduction ................................................. 47
  Developmental Factors ..................................... 48
  Relationship between Language and Time Concepts .... 51
  Transitional Objects ....................................... 53
  Toileting .................................................. 53
  Preschool .................................................. 54
  Conclusions of Other Experts ............................ 55
  Rationale for Our Recommendations ..................... 58
Contents

Recommendations for a Parenting-Plan Schedule:
  Two to Five Years .......................... 59
    • Ages Two and Three Years ............... 59
    • Ages Three and Four Years ............... 61
    • Ages Four and Five Years ............... 63

Chapter Five: SIX TO ELEVEN YEARS ............ 65
  Introduction ................................ 65
  Developmental Factors ....................... 65
  Five Tasks of Middle Childhood .............. 67
  Moral Development ......................... 69
  Puberty ..................................... 70
  School-Age Children and Reaction to Divorce .... 70
  Conclusions of Other Experts ................ 71
  Parenting-Plan Options ..................... 73
  Special Time in Parenting Plans ............. 75
  Recommendations for a Parenting-Plan Schedule:
    Six to Eleven Years ....................... 75
      • Parenting-Plan Scheduling—Six to Eleven Years .... 76
    Using a Two-Week Block Schedule .......... 78
      • Twenty-Six, Two-Week Blocks within a Calendar Year ... 78
    Using a Four-Week Block Schedule .......... 80
      • Thirteen, Four-Week Blocks within a Calendar Year .... 80
    Serious Parental Hostility or Other Extenuating
      Circumstances ............................ 82

Chapter Six: TWELVE TO EIGHTEEN YEARS ........ 83
  Introduction ................................ 83
  Developmental Factors ....................... 84
Contents

Teens’ Reaction to Divorce ........................................... 88
  • Parents First Divorcing during the Teen Years ........... 88
  • Answering Questions about Divorce ......................... 90
  • Teens Whose Parents Divorced in a
    Previous Developmental Stage ............................. 91

Conclusions of Other Experts ..................................... 92

Recommendations for a Parenting-Plan Schedule:
  Twelve to Eighteen Years .................................... 95

Chapter Seven: SPECIAL TOPICS .............................. 99

  Introduction ......................................................... 99

Sibling Groups ....................................................... 101

Relocation and Long-Distance Parenting ...................... 103

High Conflict between Parents ................................. 107
  • Co-Parenting in Families with Conflict .................. 107
  • Effects of Conflict over Time ............................. 109
  • Parental Alienation Syndrome ............................ 110
  • Conflict Happens .......................................... 111

Mental Health/Substance Abuse ................................ 112

Children with Special Physical or Mental Health Needs .... 113

Children Refusing to Comply with Parenting Plans ......... 116

Abandonment ......................................................... 118

Gay and Lesbian Parents ......................................... 120

Conclusion .......................................................... 123

Chapter Eight: WORKING IT OUT—DEVELOPMENT OF A PARENTING PLAN ............................................ 125

  How to Develop a Parenting Plan ............................. 125

Worksheet 1—Infant to Two Years ............................. 134

Worksheet 2—Two to Five Years ............................... 138
Contents

Worksheet 3—Six to Eleven Years ......................... 145
Worksheet 4—Twelve to Eighteen Years .................. 150

Appendices

Appendix 1: ATTACHMENT ......................... 155
  Table 1—Development of Attachment ................... 155
  Table 2—Type of Attachment and Later Behaviors ..... 157
  Table 3—Determining Attachment Categories ........... 158
  Table 4—Attachment/Cognitive Development/
           Emotional Development ......................... 160

Appendix 2: DETERMINING A CHILD’S TEMPERAMENT:
           A QUESTIONNAIRE ......................... 161

Appendix 3: WHO IS THE PRIMARY PARENT?
           A CHECKLIST ......................... 167

Appendix 4: REFERENCES ON TOILETING .................. 169

Appendix 5: WHAT IS NORMAL? ......................... 171
  Six-Year-Old Children ................................. 171
  Seven-Year-Old Children ............................. 174
  Eight-Year-Old Children ............................. 178
  Nine-Year-Old Children ............................... 181
  Ten-Year-Old Children ............................... 185
  Eleven-Year-Old Children ............................ 188

Appendix 6: TEN TASKS OF ADOLESCENTS ............... 193

Appendix 7: PROBLEM-SOLVING METHODS .................. 195
  Step 1: Defining the Problem ......................... 195
  Step 2: Generating Alternative Solutions .............. 195
  Step 3: Evaluating and Deciding on the Best Solution 196
  Step 4: Implementation ............................... 196
  Step 5: Renegotiation ................................. 196