Managing the Risk of Construction Defects—Or Risking Money, Effort, and Forethought to Get Construction Right
Steven M. Charney
Deborah Bovarnick Mastin

I. Introduction 2
II. Understanding Risk 2
III. Understanding the Consequences of Design Defects 3
IV. Managing the Risks of Design Defects 4
V. Strategies for Minimizing Design Defects 6
   A. External Peer Review 6
   B. Owner or Tenant Involvement 6
   C. Don't Rush the Designer 6
   D. Treat the Design as an Integrated Package 7
   E. Build a Mock-up and Test It Thoroughly 7
   F. Use Available Technology 8
   G. Early Coordination Between the Constructor and the Designer 8
   H. Engage a Construction Manager 8

Chapter 2

Common Types of Construction Defects

I. Introduction 21
   A. Construction Defects Defined 21
   B. Common Targets in Construction Defects Claims 24
      1. Design Professionals 26
      2. Contractors and Subcontractors 27
      3. Suppliers and Manufacturers 28
   C. Basic Categories of Construction Defects 29
      1. Site Defects 29
      2. Building Envelope Defects 30
      3. Structural Deficiencies 31
      4. Mechanical and Electrical Systems Defects 32
      5. Building Life Safety Systems Defects 33

II. Site Defects 34
   A. Introduction to the Various Elements of Site Development 34
   B. Typical Site-Related Claims 34
      1. Site Grading, Preparation, and Drainage 34
      2. Infrastructure: Roads and Bridges 35
      3. Infrastructure: Underground Utilities 36
      4. Site Structures: Retaining Walls, Swimming Pools, and Other Below Grade Structures 36
      5. Elevated Tanks 37

III. Building Envelope Claims 37
   A. General 37
      1. Roofing Systems 37
      2. Exterior Wall Cladding Systems 39
      3. Integration of Envelope Systems 41

IV. Failures of Building Structural Systems 41
   A. Introduction to Typical Building Structural Systems 41
      1. General 41
      2. Definition of Structural Failure 41
      3. Typical Framing and Foundation Systems 41
   B. Typical Building Structural Claims 42
      1. Structural Collapse Claims 42
      2. Non-Collapse Claims 43

V. Failures of Building Mechanical and Electrical Systems 44
   A. Introduction to Typical HVAC, Plumbing, and Electrical Systems 44
   B. Typical Building and Mechanical System Claims 45
      1. HVAC Systems 45
      2. Plumbing Systems 46
      3. Electrical Systems 47
Chapter 3

Liability Theories and Defenses for Construction Defects Claims

John W. Ralls, Clark T. Thiel, and John Foust

I. Introduction 53

II. Theories of Liability Based in Privity of Contract 54
   A. Breach of Contract 54
      1. Failure to Comply with the Contract Documents 55
      2. Failure to Perform Work Free of Defects 56
      3. Failure to Satisfy a Contractually Required Standard of Care 56
   B. Express Warranty 57
      1. Warranties Regarding the Work 57
      2. Manufacturers’ Warranties Regarding Products 58
   C. Statutory Warranty 59
   D. Implied Warranty 59
      1. Workmanlike Performance 60
      2. Implied Warranty of Habitability in Residential Construction 60
      3. Beneficiaries of Implied Warranties 61

III. Theories Not Dependent on the Concept of Privity 62
   A. Strict Liability 62
      1. Strict Liability for Building Equipment and Components 64
   B. Negligence 68
   C. Unfair and Deceptive Trade Practices 69

IV. Defense Theories 70
   A. Statutes of Limitation and Repose 70
      1. Statutes of Limitation 71
      2. Statutes of Repose 72
   B. Spearin Doctrine/Implied Warranty of Design Adequacy 73
   C. Limitations of Liability 74
   D. Economic Loss Rule 76
   E. Betterment 79
   F. Economic Waste Doctrine 80
Chapter 4
Statutes of Limitation and Repose
Steven Siegfried and Jason Rodgers-da Cruz

I. Introduction 84
II. Statutes of Limitation and Statutes of Repose 84
III. Identifying the Applicable Statute of Limitations 85
   A. Statute of Limitations Identification 86
   B. Project Identification 87
IV. Identifying the Events That Trigger the Statute of Limitations 88
   A. General Triggering Events 88
   B. Patent Defects 91
   C. Latent Defects 95
V. Statutes of Repose 99
VI. Tolling the Statutes of Limitation and the Statute of Repose 103
   A. Presuit Requirements and Statutory Tolling 103
   B. Tolling Agreements 105
   C. Fraud 105
   D. Repairs 106
   E. Equitable Estoppel 107
VII. Conclusion 108

Chapter 5
Rights and Liabilities of the Parties
Anna H. Oshiro and Christi-Anne H. Kudo Chock

I. Introduction 113
II. Owners 113
   A. Rights of Owners 113
      1. Rights of Owners Against Their Designers 113
      2. Rights of Owners Against Their Contractors 116
         a. Right to Workmanlike Construction 116
         b. Express and Implied Warranties 118
         c. Statutory Defects and Right to Repair Acts 119
      3. Rights of Indemnification 119
      4. Rights of Owners Against Subcontractors, Suppliers, and Others 120
   B. Liabilities of Owners 121
      1. To Subsequent Purchasers 121
         a. Basic Legal Principle of Caveat Emptor—Not Responsible for Defects to Subsequent Purchasers 121
         b. Active Concealment of Defects Can Lead to Liability to Subsequent Purchasers 122
         c. Typically No Responsibility or Liability to Subsequent Purchasers for Latent Defects 123
2. To Third Parties for Personal Injury and Property Damage 123
   a. For Known Defects That Were Not Repaired 123
   b. For Defects That Could Have Been Discovered Upon a Reasonable Investigation and Were Not Repaired 123
3. To Their Contractors for Defective Plans and Specifications 123

III. Associations 124
   A. Rights of Associations 124
      1. Rights of Associations Are Often Limited to Common-Area Property 124
      2. Rights of Associations Against Design Professionals and General Contractors 125
      3. Rights of Associations Against Developers 126
   B. Liabilities of Associations 127
      1. To Unit Owners for Repairs Undertaken by the Association 127
      2. To Unit Owners for Defective Workmanship Not Undertaken by the Association 128
      3. To Prospective Unit Buyers 128

IV. Developers 128
   A. Rights of Developers 128
   B. Liabilities of Developers 129
      1. Developer Liability for the Negligence of Design Professional and/or General Contractor 129
      2. Developer Liability for Its Own Defective Performance/Negligence 129
      3. Breach of Express or Implied Warranty 129
      4. Strict Liability to Purchasers of Defective Products 130
      5. Developer Disclosure Liability 130

V. Design Professionals 131
   A. Rights of Design Professionals 131
      1. Indemnification Rights Via Contract with Owner, General Contractor, or Consultants 131
      2. Protection from Improper Maintenance 132
   B. Liabilities of Design Professionals 132
      1. Design Professionals May Have Indemnity Obligations for Defective Plans 132
      2. Design Must Comply with Legislative Enactments 132
         a. Consumer Protection Statutes 132
         b. The Americans with Disabilities Act 133
         c. Building Codes 133
      3. To Third Parties for Defective Plans and Specifications 133

Insurance in Construction Defect Cases
John H. Banister and Raymond E. Kong
I. Introduction 215
II. The General Liability Policy 216
   A. General Overview 216
   B. Who Is an Insured? 216
      1. Named Insureds 217
      2. Additional Insureds 217
   C. Self-Insured Retentions and Deductibles 218
CONTENTS

D. Alleged Damage or Loss During the Policy Period 219
E. Is the Alleged Damage/Loss Covered? 220

III. Duty to Defend 221
A. A Duty to Defend Exists If There Is Any Potential for Coverage 221
B. The Duty to Defend Is Broader Than the Duty to Indemnify 222
1. Effect of Reservation of Rights 223
2. Independent Counsel Paid for by the Insurer 223
C. Scope of Defense Includes Entire Action 224
D. Insurer’s Failure to Defend May Waive Its Rights 225
E. Policy Limits in Relation to the Duty to Defend 226

IV. Determining Coverage under the Policy 226
A. Duty to Indemnify 227
B. Analysis of Policy Language by Different Jurisdictions 227
1. Property Damage 227
2. Occurrence 228
   a. Texas—Coverage for Construction Defects 229
   b. Florida—Coverage for Construction Defects 229
   c. South Carolina—No Coverage, Then Coverage, Then No Coverage 230
   d. Colorado—Coverage, No Coverage, Then the Legislature Provides Coverage 231
   e. Hawaii 232
   f. Other States 233
C. Policy Exclusions 233
1. The “Damage to Your Work” Exclusion 234
2. Case Study Example Applying the “Damage to Your Work” Exclusion 237
3. Exclusion j(5)—The “Ongoing Operations” Exclusion 237
4. Exclusion j(6)—“The Faulty Work” Exclusion 238
5. Other Exclusions 240
D. Hot Topic—Chinese Drywall Claims 241

V. Other Duties Owed by the Insurer to the Insured 242
A. Duty to Investigate 242
B. Duty to Settle 242

VI. Bad Faith: An Insurer’s Failure to Comply with Its Obligations 243

VII. Interinsurer Issues 244
A. Excess Policies 244
