

About the Author

Kenneth Vercammen is a litigation attorney in Edison, New Jersey, approximately 19 miles north of Princeton. He often lectures for the American Bar Association and New Jersey State Bar Association on personal injury and criminal/ municipal court law and practices to improve service to clients. He has published 125 articles in national and New Jersey publications on criminal, personal injury, and probate/estate administration topics.

He served as a Special Acting Prosecutor in seven different cities and towns in New Jersey and also successfully defended hundreds of individuals facing municipal court and criminal court charges.

In his private practice, Ken has devoted a substantial portion of his professional time to the preparation and trial of litigated matters. He has appeared in courts throughout New Jersey several times each week on many personal injury matters, municipal court trials, criminal hearings, and contested administrative law hearings.

He is also a popular speaker for the American Bar Association's General Practice Section and the New Jersey State Bar Association on client relations, ethics, and networking.