ABOUT THE EDITORS

Oscar Rey Rodriguez is an appellate lawyer who practiced with co-editor Vincent S. Walkowiak as a partner in the Dallas Office of Fulbright & Jaworski L.L.P. Mr. Rodriguez’s practice focuses on state and federal appellate and trial litigation in both tort and commercial areas. He is certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization in Civil Appellate Law, is a past Chair of the Dallas Bar Association’s Appellate Law Section, and has served on the Advisory Council for the State Bar of Texas Appellate Law Section. Mr. Rodriguez teams with trial lawyers in district courts and handles appeals and arguments in both federal and state appellate courts.

Mr. Rodriguez serves as a Director, Office of Career Services, and Director, Diversity and Inclusion Initiatives, at SMU Dedman School of Law. He is Vice Chair of the Dallas Bar Foundation, and is a Life Fellow of the Dallas and Texas Bar Foundations. He is a co-author with W. Wendell Hall, Rosemarie Kanusky, and Mark Emery of Hall’s Standards of Review in Texas, 42 St. Mary’s L.J. 3 (2010), and is a CLE speaker on litigation and appeals.

Mr. Rodriguez received his BBA with highest honors from the University of Texas at El Paso in 1989 and was awarded a Harry S. Truman Scholarship. After graduating as the valedictorian of his 1993 law school class from the SMU Dedman School of Law, Mr. Rodriguez served as a judicial clerk to the Supreme Court of Texas. He also holds the distinction of having earned the highest score on the July 1994 Texas Bar Examination.

Vincent S. Walkowiak is recently retired from Fulbright & Jaworski L.L.P. He is currently of counsel in the Dallas office of Norton Rose Fulbright US LLP and, before retiring as a full-time partner, served as the co-head of the firm’s product liability litigation practice group. Mr. Walkowiak has extensive experience in tort and commercial litigation, including the defense of product liability, extracontractual liability, and lender liability issues, and has represented European and Asian companies transacting business in the United States. Mr. Walkowiak is an experienced trial attorney, having represented clients in both federal and state courts as well as in alternative dispute resolution settings, including arbitrations and mediations. In addition, he has been counsel before the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, the Food and Drug Administration, and other federal and state agencies representing clients' interests in matters involving product issues. He has authored or edited more than 12 books on product liability or attorney-client privilege topics. Mr. Walkowiak received a BA in 1968 and a JD in 1971 from the University of Illinois.
ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTORS

David E. Bland is a partner at Robins Kaplan LLP, practicing in the firm’s Minneapolis office. He received his BA from the University of Minnesota in 1975, and his JD cum laude in 1979 from William Mitchell College of Law. His practice focuses on personal injury and product liability litigation, property and liability insurance coverage litigation, and directors’ and officers’ coverage litigation. He also has an active appellate practice.

A. Elizabeth Burnett is an associate in the Minneapolis office of Robins Kaplan LLP. She received her BA magna cum laude in 2004 from Creighton University, and her JD cum laude from the University of St. Thomas School of Law in 2010. Her practice focuses on insurance, product liability defense, and industrial disasters.

Jeffery J. Carlson received his B.A. from the University of Minnesota, where he graduated summa cum laude and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He earned his J.D. from the University of California, Los Angeles Law School. Mr. Carlson is the managing partner of Carlson & Messer L.L.P., a general civil litigation defense firm focusing in product liability, toxic tort litigation, professional malpractice, insurance, and employment law. Mr. Carlson has authored and coauthored many articles and lectured on numerous continuing education panels and seminars on such diverse topics as product liability law, toxic torts, trial technique, evidentiary matters, expert witnesses, and Daubert. He is a member of the American Bar Association, Association of Defense Trial Attorneys, Defense Research Institute (Drug & Medical Device Steering Committee), Federation of Defense and Corporate Counsel, and Product Liability Advisory Council.

Michael Dockterman is a partner with Steptoe & Johnson, LLP, one of the nation’s premier litigation practices. Named by The National Law Journal in 2006 as one of the Top 10 “Winning Litigators” in the United States, and described by Chambers & Partners as a lawyer who “can see through the garbage and cut to the chase,” Mr. Dockterman specializes in complex civil and criminal business litigation, and in advising clients on matters of corporate governance and compliance. He has appeared as principal trial counsel in state and federal courts in over half of the United States, and has tried both federal and state white-collar criminal cases, as well as securities, antitrust, intellectual property, environmental, contract, fraud, product liability, and amateur sports cases. Mr. Dockterman also has represented both corporate and individual interests in grand jury and other government investigations across the country involving government contracting, public corruption, securities, corporate fraud, antitrust, environmental, and other regulatory matters. Mr. Dockterman received his law degree from Duke University and his undergraduate degree from Yale University.

Toby L. Gerber is a partner at Norton Rose Fulbright US LLP. He concentrates his practice in bankruptcy, reorganization and creditor rights, commercial litigation, and the transportation industry. He is experienced in reorganization, syndicated lending, and troubled debt workouts. He represents financial institutions, nonbank lenders, and a variety of other clients on bankruptcy and commercial litigation matters, as well as transportation issues. He has acted as lead bankruptcy counsel for bank groups, lenders, and creditor groups in major cases throughout the United States and in numerous foreign jurisdictions. He has been recognized as a leading lawyer by numerous rating organizations. He is a Fellow of the American College of Bankruptcy.

Jin Kim is a private practice attorney. He is currently an associate of the Tailim Song Law Firm in Dallas, Texas. Mr. Kim has extensive experience in commercial litigation, land-use, and appeals, and has represented clients in both federal and state trial courts as well as state courts of appeal. The practice areas that Mr. Kim routinely engages in also require that he participate in a wide variety of non-litigation matters before local governments and federal administrative proceedings. Mr. Kim has assisted institutions and small businesses with real estate, land-use, zoning, intellectual property, technology, finance, labor and employment, securities, consumer products, insurance, oil and gas, and renewable energy matters. Mr. Kim served as the Managing Editor for the Texas Wesleyan University School of Law Real Property Journal. Mr. Kim received a BA in English from the University of Texas at Austin and a JD from Texas Wesleyan University School of Law.

Scott G. Johnson is a partner at Robins Kaplan LLP, practicing in the firm’s Minneapolis office. He received his BS magna cum laude from Winona State University in 1982, and his JD magna cum laude in 1986 from William Mitchell College of Law. His practice focuses on property and liability insurance coverage litigation and subrogation.

Camisha L. Simmons is the Founder and Managing Member of Simmons Legal PLLC. She focuses her practice primarily on the representation of debtors, creditors, and other stakeholders in complex restructuring, bankruptcy, litigation, and finance matters. After graduating from law school, Ms. Simmons was a judicial law clerk to the Honorable Mary F. Walrath, Judge of the United States Bankruptcy Court, District of Delaware (Chief Judge from 2003 to 2008). In 2013, Texas Lawyer named Ms. Simmons a “Legal Leader on the Rise,” one of Texas’s 25 most promising lawyers under the age of 40. She is a contributing writer for the American Lawyer Media online news service Law.com and a coordinating editor of the American Bankruptcy Institute Journal. Prior to beginning her legal career, she served on active duty in the U.S. Army from 1999 to 2003.

Tailim Song is a private practice attorney in Dallas, Texas and the principal of the Tailim Song Law Firm. The areas of practice for the Tailim Song Law Firm encompass a diverse group of industries and areas of practice which include litigation, real estate, land-use, zoning, manufacturing, intellectual property, technology, finance, labor and employment, securities, environmental, aviation, consumer products, insurance, entertainment, transportation, medical devices, oil and gas, and renewable energy Mr. Song currently represents businesses and individuals by principally practicing in commercial litigation and land-use. Mr. Song regularly appears in both federal and state trial courts. A graduate from the University of Texas at Austin with a BA, Mr. Song earned his JD from Southwestern University Law School in Los Angeles, California. Mr. Song co-authored Advocacy in Mediation which was published by the Texas Bar Journal, Trial Magazine, and the State Bar of Texas Litigation Section in The Advocate. Mr. Song is a member in good standing of the State Bar of California and the State Bar of Texas.