Table of Contents

About the Authors ................................................................. ix
Preface ................................................................................... xi
Foreword ................................................................................. xiii
Abbreviations and Acronyms ................................................. xvii
Acknowledgments ................................................................. xxi

Introduction .............................................................................. 1

Chinese Outbound Direct Investment and the European Union ............... 5

§ 1.01 The European Union and China: A Maturing Partnership .......................... 5
  [A] Strengthening Business Relationships with the EU .................................. 6

§ 1.02 Chinese Outbound Direct Investments ....................................................... 8
  [A] China’s Quest for Outside Business Opportunities ................................... 9
  [B] China Going Global with ODI ................................................................. 12
  [C] Destination of Chinese ODI to the EU ..................................................... 15
  [D] ODI Diversity ...................................................................................... 15

§ 1.03 The Realization of the ODI ................................................................. 18
  [A] China’s Political Power Structure and ODI ............................................. 19
  [B] Regulatory Approval Processes for Chinese ODIS ................................ 21
  [C] The Call for Free Market’s Bigger Role ................................................. 23

§ 1.04 Chinese Policies to Encourage Outbound Investments and Focus on Outward FDI in the EU ......................................................... 25
  [A] China’s ODI Policies and the Functions of the Main Governmental Bodies .... 25
  [B] The Need to Upgrade Outbound Investments ........................................ 32
  [C] NDRC Lists Benefits Deriving from Increased ODI ................................ 33
  [D] Chinese ODI Policies: Conclusion ....................................................... 34

§ 1.05 Distribution and Current State of Chinese ODI into The European Market: The Case of Italy ......................................................... 35
CHINESE EXPANSION IN THE EU

| § 2.01 | An Introduction to the EU | 50 |
| § 2.02 | Attracting More Chinese Investments In Europe | 53 |
| § 2.03 | European Policies and Initiatives to Attract New Chinese Investments | 55 |
| § 2.04 | Distinction of the Chinese Investors | 75 |
| § 2.05 | Risks Related to Chinese ODI for the European Economy | 80 |
| § 2.06 | Concluding Thoughts | 82 |

The Impact of New Reforms, and Further EU–China Policies

| § 3.01 | New Wave of Reforms in China | 87 |
| § 3.02 | New Reform Plan from Chinese Leadership | 98 |

Strategies and Policies to Attract Chinese Investors in Europe

| § 1.06 | Impact of Chinese Investments on the EU Economy | 44 |
| [A] | Most Important Benefits of Investment from China | 45 |
| [B] | Political Impacts of Chinese ODI | 47 |
| [C] | Final Considerations on ODI | 48 |

The Most Important Benefits of Investment from China

- [A] [B] [C] [D] [E] [F] [G] [H] [I] [J] [K] [L]

- EU Member States, Recipients of Chinese ODI
- Chinese Investors and the Four Fs: Fashion, Food, Furniture, and Ferrari

Impact of Chinese Investments on the EU Economy

- § 1.06
- [A] Most Important Benefits of Investment from China
- [B] Political Impacts of Chinese ODI
- [C] Final Considerations on ODI
Table of Contents

§ 3.03 Further Opening Up and Policies Influencing Investment .................................................. 110
  [A] The Shanghai Pilot Free Trade Zone ................................................................. 110
  [B] China Clarifies Steps to Get Yuan Cross-Border Business Moving in Shanghai PFTZ .......... 119
§ 3.04 The Importance of the Relationship with the EU .......................................................... 122
  [A] Broader Access to Investment ........................................................................ 123

A Changing China: Perspectives and Opportunities ................................................................. 125

§ 4.01 China 2030 .................................................................................................................. 125
  [A] Emphasizing the Private Sector ......................................................................... 127
  [B] Increasing the Pace of Innovation ..................................................................... 128
  [C] Moving Up the Value Chain ............................................................................. 129
  [D] Seizing Green Development Opportunities ...................................................... 130
§ 4.02 Mutual Beneficial Relationships with the Rest of the World ..................................... 133
  [A] Implications of China’s Further Development for Third Countries ....................... 134
  [B] Key Issues in China’s External Economic Relations .......................................... 135
  [C] Achieving Mutually Beneficial Trade and Investment Relations ....................... 137
  [D] Internationalization of the China’s Currency ...................................................... 138
  [E] China as an Essential Partner in Global Governance .......................................... 138
§ 4.03 The Growing Importance of the Financial Sector ......................................................... 140
  [A] China’s Financial System Development and Reforms ........................................ 140
  [B] Capital Account Liberalization and Renminbi Interest Rate Liberalization .......... 144
  [C] Financial Investments and the Role of RQFII and QFII ..................................... 145
  [D] The Recent Devaluation of the Yuan (Rmb) ...................................................... 154
  [E] The Need for More Sophisticated Reform In the Financial Sector ...................... 154
§ 4.04 Reaching a Win–Win Solutions .................................................................................. 155
  [A] Greater Integration and Shared Goals ................................................................ 155
  [B] A Changing China: Final Considerations ............................................................ 158

Chinese ODI in the EU Market: Upgrading the Existing Relationships ................................... 159

§ 5.01 The Complexity of Chinese ODI .................................................................................. 160
  [A] Specific Procedures and Requirements for Project Approval ............................... 161
  [B] The EU Versus the United States: Current Scenario ......................................... 162
  [C] Chinese Business and Culture ......................................................................... 163
§ 5.02 Chinese Investments in the EU and in the United States ............................................. 166
  [A] EU–China Investment Relations ....................................................................... 166
  [B] The EU Investment Environment for Chinese Investors .................................... 169
  [C] The Impact of Chinese Investments in the EU .................................................... 170
  [D] Impact of Increased Chinese Investment in the EU ........................................... 173
  [E] U.S. Trade Commission on the Assessment of Chinese ODI:
      Introduction ........................................................................................................... 174
  [F] Chinese ODI: Necessity or Menace .................................................................... 175
§ 5.03 Sectorial Distribution of Chinese Investments in the EU ............................................ 176
  [A] Focus on Technology ........................................................................................ 177
  [B] Research and Development ............................................................................. 177
  [C] Service Sector ................................................................................................... 178
  [D] Manufacturing and Greenfield Investments ...................................................... 178
§ 5.04 Intellectual Property Rights ............................................................. 179
[A] Intellectual Property Rights Protection and the EU 179
[B] New EU–China Intellectual Property Cooperation In Beijing 182
[C] Sino-European Cooperation in the Intellectual Property Sector 184
[D] China Further Strengthens IP Use and Protection 186
[E] China Boosts Innovation and Entrepreneurship 187
[F] China’s Innovation Capacity 188
[G] International Cooperation: Implications for China 189
§ 5.05 EU–China Relations: The Status QUO and Planned Developments .................................................. 190
[A] Priorities in the Development of Deeper Cooperation 191
[B] China–EU Cooperation: Final Remarks 194

Chinese Investment in the United States:
A New Prospective ............................................................. 195
§ 6.01 China’s Approach to the United States for Investment .................................................. 195
[A] Chinese OFDI in the United States 197
[B] Impact of Chinese Investment in the United States 198
§ 6.02 Chinese Investments in the United States: the Players .................................................. 199
[A] Money is Money, All Sources are Welcome 200
[B] Diversification Across U.S. Industries 200
§ 6.03 Chinese Investments in the United States: Preferred Industry Sectors .................................................. 201
[A] U.S. Treasury Securities 201
[B] Real Estate 204
[C] Energy 206
[D] Technology 207
[E] Food and Agriculture 208
[F] Visas 209
[G] Transportation 210
[H] Metals and Mining 211
[I] Other Sectors 212
§ 6.04 Protection of Intellectual Property Rights in the United States .................................................. 213
[A] United States IP System Structure 214
[B] Relevance of IP in the Merger and Acquisition Review 215
[C] United States’ and China’s Emphasis on IP Issues 216
[D] The “Online” Dimension 218
[G] Stimulating New Investments Opportunities 224
§ 6.05 U.S.–China Cooperation: Uneasy Bedfellows .................................................. 225
[A] Reinforced Relations 226
[B] New Bilateral Investment Treaty 226
Table of Contents

EU Competition Policy and Mergers and Acquisitions Control Regime ......................................... 229

§ 7.01 The Regulation of “Concentrations” in the EU Market .......................................................... 230
  [A] The Authority in Charge of the Merger Control Regime .................................................. 232
  [B] Joint Ventures Under the EU Merger Control Regime .................................................... 234
  [C] Applicable Turnover Thresholds ..................................................................................... 235
§ 7.02 Notification and Clearance Timetable .................................................................................. 236
  [A] Deadlines for Filing an M&A Transaction ..................................................................... 237
  [B] Preparing the Filing ....................................................................................................... 237
  [C] Different Phases of the Investigation ............................................................................. 238
§ 7.03 Powers of the EU Commission and Remedies to Restore Competition ............................. 239
  [A] The Commission’s Authority to Prohibit, or Interfere, with a Proposed Transaction ......... 239
  [B] Other Applicable Remedies ............................................................................................. 241
§ 7.04 Other Involved Parties in M&A Transactions ..................................................................... 242
  [B] International Cooperation Among Authorities ............................................................... 243
§ 7.05 Dominance in the EU ......................................................................................................... 248
  [A] Dominance ..................................................................................................................... 249
  [B] Objective of the EU Legislation ...................................................................................... 250
  [C] Abuse of a “Dominance Position” in the EU ................................................................. 250
  [D] Sanctions and Remedies .................................................................................................. 256

China Investment Corporation’s Investment in the EU Market ....................................................... 259

§ 8.01 CIC: China’s SWF and its Expansion in Europe ..................................................................... 260
  [A] United Kingdom: Open-Oriented and Direct Equity Investment ........................................ 262
  [B] Italy: Transparent Disclosure and Investment Portfolio ................................................... 268
  [C] Germany: Strong Regulatory Scrutiny and Indirect Outsourcing Investment .................. 272
§ 8.02 Conclusion: Bilateral Depoliticization and Win–Win Mutual Trust ....................................... 277

Conclusion ......................................................................................................................................... 281
References ......................................................................................................................................... 283
Appendix 1 ......................................................................................................................................... 293
Appendix 2 ......................................................................................................................................... 327
Index .................................................................................................................................................. 329