About the Author

Linda J. Ravdin practices family law exclusively as a shareholder in the Bethesda, Maryland, law firm, Pasternak & Fidis, P.C. Her practice covers the range of family law issues for families of all kinds, including divorce and separation, dissolution of nonmarital relationships, division of property, divorce taxation, disposition of retirement benefits, resolution of issues involving children, and child and spousal support. She is trained in collaborative law and serves as a mediator. A significant part of her practice involves drafting and negotiation of premarital and postmarital agreements, giving advice regarding construction and validity of existing agreements, and representing divorcing parties who have such an agreement. She is admitted to practice in Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia.

Linda is the author of two other treatises on the subject of premarital agreements, _849-2d Marital Agreements_ (Tax Management Inc. 2012) and with Pasternak & Fidis partner Marcia Fidis, _Premarital and Domestic Partnership Agreements_ (Maryland State Bar Association, 2009). In 2010-2012 she was the ABA Family Law Section Advisor to the Uniform Law Commission Drafting Committee on the Uniform Premarital and Marital Agreements Act. _Washingtonian_ magazine has called her “one of the nation’s leading specialists” in premarital agreements. She is also an author of _Domestic Relations Manual for the District of Columbia_ (LexisNexis 2002, supplemented annually) (with co-author, Hon. Diane Brenneman).
Linda is a member of the American Bar Association Family Law Section and serves on its Publications Development Board. She is a Fellow of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers and a member of the International Academy of Collaborative Professionals.
