Chapter 1

Preliminary Matters

A. Disclaimer

The Business Law Section of the American Bar Association (the BLS) disclaims any obligation to update this publication Financing Renewable Energy Projects: A Global Analysis and Review of Related Power Purchase Agreements (the Guide), or to provide any additional information relating to the Guide.

Neither the BLS nor any law firms that have contributed to the Guide (Participating Law Firms) accept liability for any inaccuracies or omissions in the Guide that may become apparent or to correct any such omissions or inaccuracies or for any indirect, special or consequential losses or damages of whatsoever kind in connection with the Guide or any information contained in it.

Each Participating Law Firm has provided content to the Guide in the form of separate chapters (the Chapters) that contain projections, targets, figures, statistical data, estimates, and forecasts (Data).

The Data presented in each Chapter does not purport to be comprehensive, is based upon publicly available information that is believed to be reliable but which has not been verified by each Participating Law Firm.

In particular, but without limitation, no reliance should be placed on any Data and nothing in each Chapter is or should be relied upon as a promise or representation as to the future.

The content of each Chapter is not to be taken as constituting the giving of legal advice by any Participating Law Firm to any reader, interested party or other person, nor to constitute such persons a client of any Participating Law Firm.

Any such persons should seek independent legal advice with respect to investments in renewable energy facilities in each participating jurisdiction.
