ABOUT THE AUTHORS

HEATHER CARSON PERKINS

Heather Perkins is a litigation partner in the Denver office of Faegre Baker Daniels LLP and serves as a member of the firm’s Management Board. She specializes in franchise and distribution litigation, trade secret litigation and counseling, and litigating complex commercial and product liability matters.

Heather just concluded a three-year term as the Editor in Chief of The Franchise Lawyer. She previously served on The Franchise Law Journal as an Articles Editor and an Associate Editor. Heather frequently writes and speaks on franchising and trade secret matters and has co-presented programs at the Annual Forum and for the International Franchise Association.

Heather has been a member of the Board of Trustees for Legal Aid Foundation of Colorado since 2015 and currently serves as Vice Chair of the Board. Heather is also a long-time member of the Community Leadership Board of Mile High Montessori, Denver’s oldest and largest provider of subsidized early childhood care and education. Heather has a passion for singing and yoga, but neither one pays the bills, unfortunately.

Heather is a proud double Buff. She graduated with honors from the University of Colorado School of Law in 1998 and with honors from the University Colorado School of Business with a Bachelor of Science degree with emphases in accounting and finance in 1993. Between college and law school, she practiced as a CPA in Boulder and Chicago. Immediately after graduating from law school, she served for two years as a law clerk for a United States District Judge.

Trish Treadwell is a former partner at Parker Hudson Rainer & Dobbs, LLP in Atlanta, Georgia. She recently left private practice for a government position. Prior to the move, Trish had a wide-ranging commercial litigation practice that focused most heavily on representing franchisors, health systems and other employers, and financial institutions in federal and state court proceedings.

Trish was a member of the Franchise Law Journal’s editorial board. She also authored articles for both the Franchise Law Journal and The Franchise Lawyer. Trish has presented at both ABA Forum on Franchising conferences and the IFA Legal Symposium. The Forum acknowledged her work and dedication to franchise law and the franchise legal community when it awarded her the Future Leaders Award in 2015. In her home state, she served in various offices, including president, of the Franchise and Distribution Section of the State Bar.

A firm believer in leading a life of continuous learning, prior to practicing law, Trish was a public school teacher. She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree with honors from Oglethorpe University in Atlanta, Georgia and her law degree with honors from Georgia State University College of Law, also in Atlanta, Georgia.
