
About the Authors

Jason Bacigalupi is an attorney in Lewis Roca Rothgerber Christie's Gaming Practice Group. He assists clients with a variety of gaming and transactional issues, including corporate formation and governance, real estate and financing, and licensing and regulatory approvals for land-based operators, gaming manufacturers, and service providers. He also has experience in interactive gaming, contests, sweepstakes, and promotions.

Anthony Cabot joined the Boyd School of Law in March 2018 as a distinguished fellow in gaming law. Before that he practiced gaming law for thirty-seven years and was a former chair of the gaming law practice and executive committee member at Lewis Roca Rothgerber Christie LLP. While in private practice, Chambers Global as Leading Lawyers for Business, for Gaming Regulation selected Cabot as the highest tier (star) gaming attorney for ten consecutive years. Chambers USA, as Leading Lawyers for Business, for Gaming Regulation recognized Professor Cabot as one of only four top-tier gaming lawyers in the United States from 2004–2017.

Katie Fillmore is an attorney in the Austin office of Butler Snow LLP, where she focuses on representing businesses in a wide variety of civil litigation matters. Katie practices before state and federal courts at the trial and appellate level.

Jennifer J. Gaynor is a member in the Las Vegas office of Dickinson Wright PLLC. Her practice is a mix of gaming law, government relations, privileged licensing, and land use and zoning. She represents clients before the Nevada Legislature in Carson City, Nevada, as well as professional and licensing boards and state and local authorities. In addition, Jennifer represents clients on matters involving First Amendment law, public records, and open meeting law.

Gregory R. Gemignani is a member in the Las Vegas office of Dickinson Wright PLLC. His practice focuses primarily on intellectual property law, gaming law, technology law, Internet law, online gaming law, and online promotions law. Greg has represented many clients ranging from the largest casino companies to start-up Internet ventures. He is an adjunct professor at the University of Nevada–Las Vegas William S. Boyd School of Law, teaching gaming law and gaming law policy.

Peter J. Kulick is a Member and Co-Chair of the Tax Practice Group at Dickinson Wright PLLC. Peter primarily practices in the area of federal tax law and also has an active administrative law practice, principally focused on gaming law. Prior to practicing law, Peter served on the staff of U.S. Senator Spencer Abraham and U.S. Congressman Dick Chrysler. Peter regularly speaks at North American and international conferences and is a prolific author on gaming and tax law matters.

Adam M. Langley is an attorney and certified public accountant at Butler Snow LLP in Memphis, Tennessee, and practices in the firm's Finance, Real Estate, and Restructuring Group. He is a double graduate of the University of Georgia, Tull School of Accounting in the Terry College of Business, and received his juris doctor degree from the University of Memphis, Cecil C. Humphreys School of Law, where he also serves as an adjunct professor. Mr. Langley clerked for the Hon. David S. Kennedy in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Western District of Tennessee. He specializes in representing debtors, creditors, and trustees in corporate and governmental bankruptcies and regularly presents and authors materials on compelling bankruptcy questions and subjects.

Glenn Light is a partner in Lewis Roca Rothgerber Christie's Gaming Practice Group.

Steve Light is Professor of Political Science and past Dean of the College of Business & Public Administration at the University of North Dakota, where he co-directs, with Kathryn Rand, the Institute for the Study of Tribal Gaming Law & Policy, the first university research institute dedicated to advancing knowledge and understanding of Indian gaming. Light is the author or co-author of more than fifty publications, including the books Indian Gaming Law: Cases and Materials (2d ed. 2019), Indian Gaming Law and Policy, and Indian Gaming and Tribal Sovereignty: The Casino Compromise, which was featured on C-SPAN's BOOK TV. Light has testified before the U.S. Senate Committee on Indian Affairs, serves on the Editorial Board of the Gaming Law Review, is a member of the International Masters of Gaming Law and the American Bar Association Business Law Section's Gaming Law Committee, and has been a featured speaker at numerous university and gaming industry events throughout the world. His current focus highlights legal, regulatory, and practical opportunities and barriers for the exploding markets in eSports and sports betting.

Kate C. Lowenhar-Fisher is the chair of Dickinson Wright PLLC's Gaming & Hospitality Practice Group. A leading Nevada gaming attorney, Kate counsels many of the world's premier gaming companies on regulatory issues in connection with mergers and acquisitions, corporate restructuring, financings, and compliance. She has extensive experience advising clients on issues related to Internet gaming, sports betting, pari-mutuel wagering, social gaming, fantasy sports, liquor licensing, sweepstakes, contests, and promotions. Because of her knowledge and her cutting-edge gaming practice, she has been sought after by major media outlets, including Yahoo! Finance, ESPN, and Bloomberg to comment on current gaming issues.

Tammy Malvin is a Partner at Akerman LLP, a leading transactions and trial law firm with more than 700 lawyers and government affairs professionals and a network of twenty-five offices. She focuses her litigation practice on gaming and hospitality clients, representing resort, hotel, casino, and pari-mutuel owners and operators locally and abroad. Tammy was named to the Emerging Leaders of Gaming “40 Under 40” Class of 2018–2019 by Global Gaming Business magazine and The Innovation Group, has been listed as a Rising Star for Gaming Law and Business Litigation from Super Lawyers Magazine, and is an active member of the ABA Business Law Section’s Gaming Committee. She has been quoted for her analysis of gaming law updates by publications such as ESPN and Gambling Compliance and often participates in live panels and webinars discussing the state of sports betting, online gaming, and the pari-mutuel industry in the United States.

Sean McGuinness is an attorney at Butler Snow LLP and practices gaming law in Colorado, Iowa, Mississippi, and Nevada. He is a member of the International Masters of Gaming Law and the International Association of Gaming Advisors. Sean served as a gaming regulator with the Iowa Racing & Gaming Commission and the Mississippi Gaming Commission. He received his doctor of jurisprudence from Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa.

Kathryn Rand is Floyd B. Sperry Professor and past Dean of the School of Law at the University of North Dakota, where she co-directs, with Steve Light, the Institute for the Study of Tribal Gaming Law & Policy, the first university research institute dedicated to advancing knowledge and understanding of Indian gaming. Rand is the author or co-author of more than fifty publications, including the books Indian Gaming Law: Cases and Materials (2d ed. 2019), Indian Gaming Law and Policy, and Indian Gaming and Tribal Sovereignty: The Casino Compromise, which was featured on C-SPAN’s BOOK TV. Rand has testified before the U.S. Senate Committee on Indian Affairs and the Sycuan Band of Kumeyaay Nation, serves on the Editorial Board of Gaming Law Review, is Vice President of Educators of the International Masters of Gaming Law, is a member of the leadership of the American Bar Association Business Law Section’s Gaming Law Committee, and has been a featured speaker at numerous university and gaming industry events throughout the world. Her current focus includes the application of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act to sports betting, online gaming, and other new and emerging markets in tribal gaming.

David Ranscht is an Assistant Attorney General in the Iowa Department of Justice. He practices primarily in administrative law, with a focus on gaming law and regulation. He advises and represents Iowa’s gaming regulators and agencies and since joining the Iowa Department of Justice in 2016, has handled most gaming-related litigation, in both state and federal courts, that involves the State of Iowa or its agencies. The views expressed here are personal to the author and do not represent the views of the State of Iowa, the Iowa Department of Justice, or any Iowa state agency.

Karl Rutledge is Chair of the Lewis Roca Rothgerber Christie Gaming Industry Group and provides counsel to clients and the business community about the nuances of gaming, particularly eSports, fantasy sports, sports betting, and promotional marketing. Karl is knowledgeable of the gaming regulatory framework and is an expert on skill gaming (e.g., fantasy sports, eSports, and casual skill games). He is the chair of the Gaming Law Committee of the American Bar Association Business Law Section and is currently a member of the Executive Committee of the Gaming Law Section of the Nevada State Bar. Karl has been listed in Best Lawyers in America in the category of Gaming Law since 2012, was featured in the April 2014 edition of Global Gaming Business Magazine as an emerging leader in the gaming industry, and was named to Vegas Inc.'s "40 Under 40" for the Las Vegas Valley in 2019.

Jeffrey A. Silver is of counsel in the Las Vegas office of Dickinson Wright PLLC. Jeff's practice focuses on every aspect of gaming, liquor licensing and regulatory law, as well as planning and zoning matters, contractor licensing, and transportation law. He has testified before the Nevada Legislature and U.S. Congressional subcommittees on gaming law issues and has consulted on gaming regulatory matters in several jurisdictions. Jeff served as a Clark County Chief Deputy District Attorney, heading the Consumer Affairs and White Collar Crimes Division and was the resident Las Vegas Member of the Nevada Gaming Control Board during the state's tumultuous period of developing regulatory oversight. Jeff has also held CEO and Board positions at Las Vegas resort hotels, the Landmark and Riviera, and was a former Senior Vice-President of Marketing at Caesars Palace.

Stacey A. Tovino serves as the Judge Jack and Lulu Lehman Professor of Law at UNLV William S. Boyd School of Law. An elected member of the American Law Institute, Professor Tovino is a leading expert in health law, bioethics, and the medical humanities, with particular expertise in the civil, regulatory, operational, and financial aspects of health law. Trained in both law and the medical humanities, Professor Tovino publishes her interdisciplinary work in textbooks, casebooks, encyclopedias, law reviews, medical and science journals, and ethics and humanities journals. Professor Tovino founded the UNLV Health Law Program, an academic partnership between the UNLV Boyd School of Law and the UNLV School of Public Health, and served as its Director from 2013 to 2018.

Mary Tran is an associate in the gaming practice group of Lewis Roca Rothgerber Christie LLP. She assists commercial and tribal gaming clients in various areas that include drafting gaming regulations, liquor and gaming licensing, assistance with sweepstakes and promotions, and drafting website privacy policies and terms of use.

About the Editor

Keith C. Miller is the Ellis and Nelle Levitt Distinguished Professor of Law at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. Professor Miller teaches the course on Gaming Law at Drake along with courses in the area of Torts. In addition to numerous law review articles, he is co-author (with Anthony Cabot) of two books on gaming law. The Law of Gambling and Regulated Gaming (2d ed.) is the leading casebook on gaming law. Sports Wagering in America: Policies, Economics, and Regulation, a comprehensive treatment of the issues informing regulated sports betting, was published in 2018.

Professor Miller is Vice-Chair of the Gaming Law Committee for the Business Law Section of the American Bar Association. He also served as the Vice-President of Educator Affiliates of the International Masters of Gaming Law (IMGL). Professor Miller is a member of the Editorial Board for Gaming Law Review, the leading peer-reviewed gaming law journal, and is a member of the UNLV Gaming Law Journal Advisory Board.

Professor Miller has spoken on and moderated panels for the IMGL and the ABA on gaming law issues and has conducted symposia and lectured at law schools in France and the United States, including being a Visiting Professor at the University of Nevada–Las Vegas Boyd School of Law. Professor Miller also consults on gaming law cases, has been an expert witness in gaming law litigation, and is a frequent resource for media on matters involving gaming law.

Professor Miller received his JD from the University of Missouri–Kansas City and after practicing law in Kansas City, Missouri, obtained his LLM degree from the University of Michigan Law School before beginning his career as an academic lawyer.