

About the Authors

June M. Sullivan is an attorney and the Senior Director of Compliance and Privacy at the University of Massachusetts Medical School (UMMS). She oversees all activities related to the development, implementation, and maintenance of the Compliance and Privacy Program. She advises researchers, health care providers, employees, and students on federal and state laws in a variety of areas including privacy, compliance, risk management, conflicts of interest, contracts, and procurements. Before coming to UMMS, she was Associate General Counsel at UnitedHealthcare. Prior to that, she was a partner at the law firm of Halloran & Sage in Hartford, Connecticut, where she practiced health law for 10 years. She has a health law certificate and law degree from Quinnipiac University. She also has a master's degree in occupational therapy and a bachelor's degree in medical technology. She is certified in healthcare privacy compliance (CHPC) and healthcare compliance (CHC). She is the author of the first edition of HIPAA: A Practical Guide to the Privacy and Security of Health Data.

Shannon B. Hartsfield is a health lawyer with Holland & Knight LLP in Florida whose practice focuses on corporate compliance, particularly in the regulatory and data privacy areas. She is Board Certified in Health Law by the Florida Bar Board of Legal Specialization and Education. She advises clients on state and federal matters, including healthcare compliance programs, internal investigations, HIPAA and data privacy, cybersecurity, data breaches, cyber liability and reducing risk, consumer protection relating to privacy, patient engagement, informed consent, genetic testing, long-term care, telemedicine, health technology, fraud and abuse, licensure, EMTALA, electronic medical records, and prescription drug wholesaling. Ms. Hartsfield is a past Chair of the ABA Health Law Section's eHealth, Privacy & Security Interest Group.

Ms. Hartsfield's clients include health plans and insurers, medical technology companies, assisted living facilities, continuing care retirement communities, nursing homes, hospitals, large clinics, pharmaceutical and device manufacturers and distributors, dental suppliers, veterinary supply wholesalers, pharmacies, tissue banks, medical and benefit management companies, religious institutions, and data analytics companies, among others.