Acknowledgments

This book took more than a year and a half to research and write. In order to compile, understand, and analyze the practice and procedure of family law arbitration and related topics across the country, I relied on the guidance of experienced judges, professors, and lawyers, who reviewed and edited my drafts, provided anecdotes, suggested content, and generously shared their time and expertise. I gratefully acknowledge the contributions of these individuals and list their contact information here.

I also acknowledge with deep appreciation the support of my family, friends, and colleagues, especially my husband, Joe, and our three children, Allison, Jennifer, and Christopher, who gave me boundless love and encouragement; my partners, Mark A. Momjian, Catherine M. McFadden, and Meredith Brennan, who shared their insight, practice tips, and forms; my book club friend and fellow family lawyer, Kate Vetrano, who inspired me to write this book; my AAML Arbitration Training teachers, Dale Console, William M. Levine, and Lynn P. Burleson, who shared their extensive knowledge and materials; and my Pennsylvania colleagues, Jerold S. Berschler, Julie R. Colton, Michael E. Fingerman, Lise A. Fisher, Rochelle B. Grossman, David M. Melchiorre, William J. Phelan IV, Alita A. Rovito, Jerald L. Shoemaker, and Lee A. Schwartz, who shared their expertise and forms. I am also grateful for the dedication of my research associate, Leona Marie Sharpstene, who worked so diligently to help me find the important facts that every family law arbitrator needs to know; for the guidance of my editor, Maureen McBrien, who helped me strike the right balance between esoteric detail and practical knowledge; and for the able assistance of my daughter, Allison C. Zack, an aspiring lawyer, in editing the final draft.

Finally, I honor the memory of my mentor, Albert Momjian, family lawyer and person extraordinaire, who encouraged me early in my career to get involved in the bar associations, to write and speak on family law topics, and never to stop learning about ways to be a better family lawyer.
