Dear Colleagues:

The American Bar Association Section of Antitrust Law is excited to invite you to join us for the Section’s Fourth Merger Practice Workshop, which will be held in San Francisco on October 26, 2018. In this unparalleled one-day workshop, participants will have the unique opportunity to witness some of the most accomplished private practitioners, corporate counsel, and government enforcers engage with a complex hypothetical merger of two competing high-tech companies. Through a series of short skits, the workshop will present a comprehensive look at the lifecycle of a merger being investigated in the United States and China, highlighting critical interactions such as:

- Strategy sessions between the parties’ internal and external antitrust counsel;
- The parties’ initial presentation to US antitrust enforcers;
- An internal conference among agency staff to evaluate the parties’ advocacy materials;
- A meeting with economic experts to develop empirical economic evidence in conjunction with customer testimony and documentary evidence;
- Investigations by a hypothetical Chinese competition authority and hypothetical Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States;
- A lively presentation by the parties to the front office to discuss substantive competitive concerns; and
- An internal agency meeting between staff and the front office to inform whether to challenge the transaction.

As an immersive experience, the workshop will provide attendees with sample materials, including iterations of a merger agreement, Item 4 documents, illustrative hot documents, and advocacy presentations. Using interactive voting technology, participants will make the final decision about whether the deal goes through before enjoying a networking reception at the Workshop’s conclusion.

The Merger Practice Workshop represents a truly one-of-a-kind experience designed to interactively engage attendees in a manner accessible for those who are less experienced with the merger review process, while also providing insights for more seasoned in-house counsel, practitioners, and enforcers.

We look forward to you joining us in San Francisco!
