Section Leaders,

Thank you for serving as leaders of the Antitrust Law Section, THE leading global association for competition, consumer protection, and data privacy lawyers and professionals. The Section owes its success to the extraordinary commitment of your time, talent, initiative, and innovation.

There has never been a more exciting time to be a leader in our Section. We have a record number of leaders this year, a true reflection of the opportunities and exciting times ahead.

As evidenced by the number of Special Operations Teams that I have appointed, Section operations will be a high priority this year with increased focus on marketing, leadership development, podcasting, evaluation of our periodicals line-up, evaluation of the efficiency of our overall operations, and enhancing the Section’s relationship with ABA Chicago and other ABA sections. Our six Task Forces reflect our continued commitment to commenting on enforcement policies proposed by agencies worldwide and to studying big data, the development of federal and state privacy legislation, and the future of global competition law standards of analysis.

The Section will also continue to contribute to increasing the knowledge and skills of our members through an amazing array of high-quality programming and publications, including our signature Spring Meeting, the new In-House Institute, the Tech Summit (Fall Forum), Antitrust Law Journal, Antitrust Magazine and Antitrust Source, as well as our committee webinars and newsletters, our Global Seminar Series, and a host of CLE programming including our Cartel Workshop and Antitrust in Asia.

A core strength of the Section is the unparalleled networking opportunity that it offers. Your active participation in leadership will enable you to develop stronger bonds and new friendships within the global competition and consumer protection legal communities. We seek to strengthen connections and enhance communications among all parts of those communities—government and non-government, plaintiff and defense, public interest and academic, in-house and outside counsel, large firm and small, and experienced professionals and those just starting their careers. Our leadership reflects the most talented, generous and collegial professionals anywhere.

This directory is our go-to resource. Look to it first for whom to contact—particularly our extraordinary Staff team—and to become better acquainted with the Section and your fellow leaders.

This year, I hope you will build many new relationships and renew and strengthen connections between old friends. As leaders in the Section, please promote the benefits of Section membership to others, particularly younger lawyers, and help to develop the Section leaders of the future. And please, do not forget to offer special thanks to our tireless Staff who devote countless hours to ensuring that Section trains always run on time.
