THE JANET D. STEIGER FELLOWSHIP PROJECT is a full-time, eight week minimum, summer fellowship program open to all first and second year law students throughout the United States. The project is part of an overall effort by the ABA Section of Antitrust Law and the National Association of Attorneys General (“NAAG”) to provide unique training opportunities to law students who may wish to consider public service as a profession, while at the same time, assisting the states that are in substantial need of additional resources to fulfill their consumer protection mission. The Section also seeks to honor the memory of one of America’s great public servants, the late Janet D. Steiger, who served with such distinction as Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission from 1989 to 1995. Chairman Steiger was instrumental in elevating the status of consumer protection in this country, while dramatically improving the level of communication, cooperation and coordination between the FTC and the National Association of Attorneys General (“NAAG”).

This is the fourteenth year of the Steiger Fellowship Project and the following selected Steiger Fellows were placed with the states and/or territories as listed below.

Congratulations to the 2018 Steiger Fellows:

Office of the Arizona Attorney General, Christina Grey, 2L, Baylor University Law School
Office of the Arkansas Attorney General, J. Blake Sweat, 1L, University of Arkansas at Little Rock, William H. Bowen School of Law
Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection, Libby Reinish, 1L, University of Connecticut Law School
Office of the Florida Attorney General, Amy Bhatt, 2L, Florida State University College of Law
Georgia Department of Law, Hannah-Kate Gosch, 1L, Vanderbilt University Law School
State of Hawaii, Office of Consumer Protection, Robert Carnes, 1L, University of Michigan Law School
Office of the Indiana Attorney General, Brittni Crofts-Wassmer, 1L, Indiana University, Maurer School of Law
Office of the Iowa Attorney General, Zackary Kaylor, 2L, University of Minnesota Law School
Kentucky Office of the Attorney General, Nicholas Allen, 2L, University of Tennessee College of Law
State of Maryland Office of the Attorney General, Shahzeb Asim, 2L, George Washington University Law School
Massachusetts Office of the Attorney General, Marika O’Connor Grant, 1L, Stanford Law School
Mississippi Attorney General’s Office, A. Danielle Banks, 2L, University of Mississippi School of Law
State of Nebraska Office of the Attorney General, Connor Saphire, 2L, University of Nevada, Las Vegas, William S. Boyd School of Law
State of Nevada Office of the Attorney General, Jocelyn Murphy, 2L, University of Nevada, Las Vegas, William S. Boyd School of Law
New Hampshire Attorney General’s Office, Chelsie Rommel, 2L, University of New Hampshire School of Law
State of New Jersey Office of the Attorney General, Sarah DeAgostino, 1L, University of Notre Dame Law School
Ohio Attorney General’s Office, Jenna Foos, 2L, Michigan State University College of Law
State of Oregon Department of Justice, Taylor Sevrens, 2L, Seattle University School of Law
Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General, Mark Wolfe, 2L, Emory University School of Law
State of South Dakota Office of Attorney General, Jenna Schweiss, 1L, University of South Dakota School of Law
State of Tennessee Office of the Attorney General, Hamilton Milliwee, 1L, University of Alabama School of Law
Office of the Texas Attorney General, Grace Lager, 2L, University of Texas School of Law
State of Utah Office of Attorney General, Parag Dave, 2L, Michigan State University College of Law
State of Vermont Office of the Attorney General, Thaddeus Sheehy, Jr., 1L, University of Baltimore School of Law
Virginia Office of the Attorney General, Emile Khattar, 2L, George Mason University, Antonin Scalia Law School
Office of the Washington State Attorney General, Emily Beale, 1L, Seattle University School of Law
State of West Virginia Office of the Attorney General, Emily Cramer, 1L, West Virginia University College of Law
Wisconsin Department of Justice, Samuel Bach, 2L, University of Wisconsin Law School
State of Wyoming Office of the Attorney General, Adelaide Myers, 1L, University of Wyoming College of Law