Opinions

President's Perspective

Opportunity and Obligation: My Year in Bar Leadership

By Richard B. McNamara

Serving as the New Hampshire Bar President has been a source of tremendous enjoyment, but it has also been a tremendous responsibility. When I began my year as NHBA President, I believed that it was both an opportunity and an obligation: the opportunity to ensure that all that our profession can bring to civic life and public discourse is heard, and the obligation to advance the interests of our profession.

With the help of the year's very hardworking and active Board, we have been able to accomplish a great deal. A few of the more important achievements are the following:

- The Board of Governors adopted the Work-Life Balance Canons, setting aspirational goals to help create an environment in which members of the profession learn to respect their own personal needs and each other's needs.
- The New Hampshire Supreme Court approved a new rule creating a Professional Lawyers Assistance Program to assist lawyers who have substance abuse and/or mental health issues. The Court approved the Bar's proposal to fund this program by reducing the $50 Client Indemnity Fund payment to $40, and having $20 of that payment go to the Client Indemnity Fund and $20 to fund professional staffing for the Lawyer's Assistance Program. This program is on its way to implementation.
- We have worked to streamline the MCLE reporting procedures and to ensure that New Hampshire lawyers have a user-friendly system that makes compliance easier and minimizes the number of lawyers who are fined.
- We have created an award for Public Sector and Public Interest lawyers so that such attorneys can be recognized; the first award will be given out at the Midyear Meeting in 2006. We continue to work with a task force to find a way to make the Bar more relevant to those members working in public interest or government law positions.
- Our efforts to develop an expedited entry process for attorneys while preserving the need for courthouse security are finally bearing fruit. Lawyers have always expressed concern about the fact that they, as officers of the Court, are searched as they go through security. This causes problems, apart from delay, because frequently jurors and witnesses see lawyers being searched while police officers and, in some cases, prosecutors, are not. We have worked hard with sheriffs in the various counties to understand their security concerns and try to meet them.
On June 11, 2006, a long-awaited pilot project in Hillsborough County South began. At the Nashua courthouse, lawyers who have agreed to comply with security requirements spelled out by Sheriff James Hardy were given a magnetic card that enabled them to bypass the main weapons-screening area to enter the courthouse. (See article on page one.) Sheriff Hardy has been an innovator in this project, in partnership with the Bar Association. We hope that a successful demonstration in Hillsborough South will lead to expansion throughout the state.

But for the most important of all the things the Board of Governors has done this year is our work on promulgating the value of the profession.

The NHBA adopted a Statement on the Value of the Profession in 2006. It appears on the NHBA's Web site. It says in part that "the legal profession is the institution which society turns to as the repository of legal knowledge and the history and development of the law, giving context and meaning to the letter and the spirit of the rule of law." These words are of vital importance to all of us. In a world that is becoming smaller every day, and in which values American lawyers take for granted — free speech, freedom of association, freedom from torture — are considered radical in parts of the world, the role of our profession is ever more important.

Over the last year, the Board of Governors and staff has worked tirelessly to help explain our profession, and to educate the public about the importance of the rule of law, and the value of lawyers. This critical task will, and must continue.

When I became President, I believed that I was taking on a stewardship. I was grateful for the hard work done by the preceding presidents — Rich Uchida, Jim Gleason, Russ Hilliard, and many, many more. They did their part to advance our profession and the rule of law. I know that in upcoming years, President-Elect Eleanor Dabah and Vice President Ellen Arnold will do their part. In my last column as President of the New Hampshire Bar Association, I ask all of you: Will you do yours?

Richard B. McNamara, a member of the Wigen & Nourse law firm, turns over the NHBA President's gavel at the NHBA Annual Meeting, on Saturday, June 23, to Eleanor W. Dabah, of Dabah Professional Association, in Manchester.

Bar News Wants To Hear from You

Bar News is interested in hearing from its readers. If you have a letter to the editor you've been wanting to write, please don't wait another day; let us know what's on your mind. Or perhaps you would like to send in an opinion article expressing your point of view.

We would love to hear from you.

If you would like to view lawyer directories, articles, or columns, go to www.nhbar.org or click on Publications and take a look at past issues of Bar News and Bar Journal.

Email your letters and article ideas to Beverly Sorens, managing editor, at bsorens@nhbar.org or call her at (603) 225-6491.

Patents - Trademarks - Copyrights - Litigation

LAMBERT & ASSOCIATES

Registered Patent Attorneys

150 Main Street, Nashua, NH 03060
603.892.7216
http://www.lambertpatentlaw.com
92 State Street, Boston, MA 02109
617.722.9991

Call or write Gary E. Lambert (AV® Rated) to discuss how we can assist you or your clients.

gary@lambertpatentlaw.com

Attorneys with B.S. or M.S. degrees in Chemistry, Electrical Engineering, Chemistry, Biology & Strategic Studies

Admitted to all State & Federal Courts in New Hampshire, Massachusetts & New York - First & Federal Circuit Court of Appeals - Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces

Flanigan Mancini

You Protect Your Clients.

WE PROTECT YOU.

“Exclusively Serving Association Members”

NIHBA INSURANCE AGENCY, INC.

Suzanne Morand, AIA, CIC
Senior Account Executive
smorand@nhbar.org
2 Pillsbury Street, Suite 300
Concord, NH 03301
Phone: (866) 642-2292 toll free
Fax: (603) 225-1285
www.nhbar.org