Legal services are human services. Veterans, seniors, children, the poor and disabled often navigate the justice system without legal representation. Your donation to the American Bar Association Fund for Justice and Education (#83957) will ensure access to pro bono attorneys, preserves civil liberties and human rights, and equality under the law. Charitable giving helps:

LOW-INCOME INDIVIDUALS
About 10 million rural residents live below the Federal Poverty Line. ABAFreeLegalAnswers.org connects lawyers with low-income clients online. In a little more than two years, over 50,000 civil legal questions have been submitted through this virtual clinic and more than 5,000 pro bono attorneys have registered to volunteer. This platform helps address the justice crisis in rural America by eliminating families having to travel long distances to find a lawyer or be constrained by legal aid office hours.

MILITARY MEMBERS AND THEIR FAMILIES
For 10 years, the ABA Military Pro Bono Project has addressed access to justice issues of active duty military personnel. Each year, about $1 million in donated billable hours are provided by civilian attorneys who volunteer with civil legal cases to assist those currently serving here and abroad. Domestic, consumer, and other issues can distract from their service, and this project champions the legal rights of those actively serving our country.

NATURAL DISASTER SURVIVORS
The legal crisis that people face in the aftermath of a hurricane, fire or flood can be as devastating as the disaster itself. In 2017, following Hurricane Harvey and Maria, the ABA Disaster Legal Services program recruited nearly 1,300 lawyers and law students to provide free legal services to almost 17,000 people. Today, survivors are being helped with insurance disputes, FEMA appeals, and landlord tenant disputes, with each declared disaster.
