Gregory Neal Akers
Senior Vice President of Advanced Security Initiatives
Cisco Security and Trust Organization

Greg Akers is the Senior Vice President & CTO of Advanced Security Research & Government within the Security and Trust Organization (STO) at Cisco. He also serves as executive sponsor of the Cisco Disability Awareness Network. Mr. Akers joined Cisco in 1993. He has held a variety of technical, managerial and executive roles at Cisco. These have included networking engineer, Vice President for the Worldwide Technical Assistance Center, Senior Vice President-CTO Services and Senior Vice President-Global Governments Solutions Group. He also holds the CCIE certification. In addition to his primary role, Mr. Akers is an Internet security and critical infrastructure protection advisor to Cisco customers and to the U.S. government. In this capacity he has held leadership roles, such as serving as President of the IT-Information Sharing and Analysis Center (ISAC) organization in 2002 and Vice President in 2001. Mr. Akers has also advised the U.S. Department of Defense and the federal intelligence community for more than fifteen years. Mr. Akers is a member of the National White-Collar Crime Board and the Board of Directors of the East Carolina Infraguard. Presently he leads and serves on various boards, panels and task forces within the U.S. Department of Defense. Before joining Cisco, Mr. Akers’ career included more than 15 years of designing, building, and running large networks for Fortune 100 companies. He has held senior technical and leadership roles at Fechheimer Brothers, a holding of Berkshire Hathaway, and Procter and Gamble.

Judge James E. Baker
Chair
ABA Standing Committee on Law and National Security

Judge Baker retired from the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces in 2015 after fifteen years of service, the last four as Chief Judge. Judge Baker is currently the Chair of the ABA Standing Committee on Law and National Security and is the Robert Wilhelm Fellow at the Center for International Studies at MIT. He previously served as Special Assistant to the President and Legal Adviser to the National Security Council (NSC) (1997-2000), Deputy Legal Adviser to the NSC (1994-1997), and Counsel to the President’s Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board and Intelligence Oversight Board. He has also served as an attorney at the Department of State, a legislative aide and Acting Chief of Staff to Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan, and as a Marine infantry officer. He is the author of In the Common Defense: National Security Law for Perilous Times (Cambridge) and, with Michael Reisman, Regulating Covert Action (Yale). Judge Baker is the recipient of the 1999 Colonel Nelson Drew Memorial Award (the NSC’s highest honor) and the Director of Central Intelligence's "Director's Award." He has taught at Yale, Iowa, Pitt, WashU, and Georgetown, including courses on national security, ethics, leadership, and federal courts. He holds a B.A. and a J.D. from Yale University.

Hilarie Bass
President
American Bar Association

As Co-President of international law firm Greenberg Traurig and a prolific trial attorney, Hilarie Bass is one of the most recognized women attorneys in the United States. Hilarie is currently President of the American Bar Association, the world’s largest voluntary professional organization with more than 400,000 members. At Greenberg Traurig, she helps chart the course for the multi-practice firm with approximately 2,000 attorneys across 38 offices worldwide. She currently serves on the firm’s Executive Committee and previously served an eight-year term as national chair of its 600-member litigation department. Hilarie is also the founder and former chair of Greenberg Traurig’s Women’s Initiative. Hilarie has successfully represented high-profile corporate clients in jury and non-jury trials involving hundreds of millions of dollars in controversy. She has worked and settled more than 100 cases, tried more than 20 cases to conclusion, and argued numerous appeals. Hilarie is widely recognized for her pro bono work on behalf of two foster children that led to the elimination and declaration as unconstitutional Florida’s 20-year-old ban on gay adoption. She has dedicated herself to supporting the mission of the ABA for more than 30 years, beginning as a young lawyer and now serving a one-year term as President. She previously served as Chair of the Section of Litigation, where she spearheaded the creation of a Task Force on Implicit Bias in the Justice System. She also served as Chair of the Committee on Rules and Calendar, and as a member of the Board of Governors, House of Delegates and the State of Florida representative, on the Nominating Committee.
Monika Bickert is Facebook’s head of product policy and counterterrorism. Her global team manages the policies for what types of content can be shared on Facebook and how advertisers and developers can interact with the site. Monika originally joined Facebook in 2012 as lead security counsel, advising the company on matters including child safety and data security. Prior to joining Facebook, Monika served as Resident Legal Advisor at the U.S. Embassy in Bangkok, Thailand, where she specialized in Southeast Asian rule of law development and response to child exploitation and human trafficking. She also served as Assistant United States Attorney for 11 years in Washington, DC and Chicago, prosecuting federal crimes ranging from public corruption to gang-related violence. Monika received a B.A. in Economics and English from Rice University and a J.D. from Harvard Law School.

The Honorable Rachel Brand
Associate Attorney General
U.S. Department of Justice

Rachel L. Brand was sworn in as Associate Attorney General on May 22, 2017, after confirmation by the Senate. As Associate Attorney General, she serves as the third-ranking officer in the Department of Justice and oversees the following Department components: Antitrust Division, Civil Division, Civil Rights Division, Environment and Natural Resources Division, Tax Division, Executive Office for U.S. Trustees, Office of Justice Programs, Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS), Office on Violence Against Women, Community Relations Service, Office of Access to Justice, Office of Information Policy, Foreign Claims Settlement Commission, and the Servicemembers and Veterans Initiative. She also serves as the Department’s Regulatory Reform Officer and chairs the Regulatory Reform Task Force. Prior to becoming Associate Attorney General, Ms. Brand had a diverse legal career in public service and outside of government. From 2012 – 2017, she served as one of five Senate-confirmed Members of the Privacy and Civil Liberties Oversight Board, appointed by President Obama. In that capacity, she provided advice and oversight to U.S. counterterrorism agencies to ensure that privacy and civil liberties are balanced with national security objectives. Ms. Brand previously served in the Department of Justice from 2003 – 2007, first as the Principal Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the Office of Legal Policy, and then as the Senate-confirmed Assistant Attorney General for Legal Policy, appointed by President George W. Bush. In that capacity, Ms. Brand served as chief policy adviser to the Attorney General, handling a broad range of national security, law enforcement, and civil justice issues. She also oversaw the development of all regulations promulgated by the Department of Justice and managed the Department's role in selecting federal judges, including running the confirmation process for Chief Justice John G. Roberts and Associate Justice Samuel Alito. Earlier, Ms. Brand was an Associate Counsel to President George W. Bush in the White House. Outside of the federal government, Ms. Brand has been an Associate Professor of law at George Mason University’s Antonin Scalia Law School, an adjunct professor at George Washington University Law School, and a lawyer in private practice in Washington, D.C. She served as a law clerk to Associate Justice Anthony M. Kennedy of the Supreme Court of the United States during the 2002 – 2003 Term and to Justice Charles Fried of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts. Ms. Brand graduated from Harvard Law School, where she served as deputy editor-in-chief of the Harvard Journal of Law and Public Policy, and earned a B.A. from the University of Minnesota-Morris.

Col. Gary Brown, USAF (ret.)
Senior Legal Advisor
U.S. Department of Defense

Gary Brown served 24 years as a judge advocate with the United States Air Force and currently serves as a senior legal advisor in the Department of Defense. During his final assignment he was the first senior legal counsel for U.S. Cyber Command. He has authored several articles related to cyber warfare, including Spying and Fighting in Cyberspace and The Cyber Longbow & Other Information Strategies: U.S. National Security and Cyberspace. Gary was the official U.S. observer to the drafting of the Tallinn Manual on the International Law Applicable to Cyber Warfare (2013), and was a member of the International Group of Experts that authored the second edition of the Tallinn Manual (2017). He worked with the Washington Delegation, International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) as the Communications Chief and Deputy Legal Advisor from 2012-2015. He was also Professor of Cyber Security at Marine Corps University from 2015-2017.
Carrie Cordero is Counsel at ZwillGen PLLC, a boutique law firm based in Washington D.C. Her practice focuses on national security law, homeland security law, and related surveillance, privacy, cybersecurity, insider threat and data protection issues. She is an Adjunct Professor of Law at Georgetown University Law Center, where she previously served as Director of National Security Studies. Carrie’s government service includes serving as Counsel to the Assistant Attorney General for National Security, Senior Associate General Counsel at the Office of the Director of National Intelligence, Attorney Advisor in the Department of Justice, where she practiced before the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court, and Special Assistant United States Attorney. Carrie has been featured across media outlets including television, print and radio, has published op-eds in the Wall Street Journal and the New York Times, and is a Contributing Editor of Lawfare. She is an elected Director of the Bar Association of the District of Columbia and a Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP/U.S.). Carrie earned her J.D., cum laude, from Washington College of Law, American University, and B.A., magna cum laude, from Barnard College.

Col. Gary Corn (USA)
Staff Judge Advocate
US Cyber Command

Previous assignments include: Chief, Operational Law Branch, International and Operational Law Division, Office of the Judge Advocate General of the Army, 2012-2013; Deputy Legal Counsel, Office of the Legal Counsel to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, 2010-2012; Staff Judge Advocate, United States Army South, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, 2008-2010; Chief, Criminal Law Division and Chief, International and Operational Law Division, I Corps and Fort Lewis, Fort Lewis Washington, 2006-2008; Chief, International Law, Combined Forces Command-Afghanistan, Kabul, Afghanistan, 2006; Special Assistant United States Attorney, United States Attorney’s Office for the District of Columbia, 2004-2005; Senior Litigation Attorney, Military Personnel Law Branch, United States Army Litigation Division, 2002-2004; The Judge Advocate General’s School, United States Army, 2000-2001; Deputy Legal Advisor, Joint Task Force Six, Fort Bliss, Texas, 1999-2000; Chief of Claims, Senior Trial Counsel, and Military Magistrate, 18th Airborne Corps, Fort Bragg, North Carolina, 1997-1999. Previous civilian and military education includes: George Washington University National Law Center, J.D. with Honors 1993; Bucknell University, B.A. cum laude 1987; United States Army War College, M.A. in National Security Studies, Distinguished Graduate, 2014; Escola de Comando e Estado Maior do Exército do Brasil (Command and General Staff College of the Brazilian Army), Rio de Janeiro, Brasil, 2005; 50th Judge Advocate Officer Graduate Course, The Judge Advocate General’s School, United States Army, Charlottesville, Virginia, L.L.M. with Honors 2001; United States Army Combined Arms Service Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, 1998. Awards and decorations include the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, the Meritorious Service Medal, the Army Commendation Medal, the Army Achievement Medal, the National Defense Service Medal, the Afghanistan Campaign Medal, the Global War on Terrorism Medal, the Armed Forces Service Medal, the Armed Forces Reserve Medal, the United Nations Preventive Deployment Force Medal, the Brazilian Peacemaker’s Medal, the Expert Infantryman’s Badge, Parachutist Badge, and Brazilian Military Parachutist Badge.

Rebecca Crootofof
Executive Director, Information Society Project
Research Scholar and Law Lecturer
Yale University Law School

Rebecca Crootofof is a Research Scholar and Lecturer in Law at Yale Law School and the Executive Director of the Information Society Project. Her primary areas of research include technology law, international law, and torts; her work explores questions stemming from the iterative relationship between law and technology, often in light of changes sparked by increasingly autonomous systems, artificial intelligence, cyberspace, robotics, and the Internet of Things. Dr. Crootofof earned her B.A. cum laude at Pomona College, her J.D. at Yale Law School, and her PhD at Yale Law School. She has authored pieces on subjects ranging from how autonomous weapon systems may foster the rise of international tort law to the influence of non-self-executing treaties on American jurisprudence.

Michael Davis
Chief Technology Officer
CounterTack

Michael A. Davis has been privileged to help shape and educate the global community on the evolution of IT security. His portfolio of clients includes international corporations such as AT&T, Sears, and Exelon as well as the U.S. Department of Defense. Davis’ early embrace of entrepreneurship earned him a spot on BusinessWeek’s “Top 25 under 25” list, recognizing his 2005 launch of IT security consulting firm Savid Technologies, which was recognized as one of the fastest growing security companies of its decade. He has a passion for educating others, as a contributing author for the “Hacking Exposed” books, as a speaker at dozens of conferences and symposiums, and through industry publications including InformationWeek and Dark Reading. Most recently, Davis has served as CTO of CounterTack, provider of an endpoint security platform delivering real-time cyber threat detection and forensics. Davis brings a solid background in IT threat assessment and protection to his latest posting, having been Senior Manager Global Threats for McAfee prior to launching Savid, which was acquired by External IT. Aside from his work advancing cyber security, Davis has been a partner in a number of diverse entrepreneurial startups; held a leadership position at 3com; managed two Internet service providers; and recently served as President/CEO of the InClaro Group, a firm providing information security advisory and consulting services based on a unique risk assessment methodology.

Raj De
Partner
Mayer Brown

Rajesh (“Raj”) De is a partner in the Washington DC office of Mayer Brown, where he leads the firm’s global Cybersecurity & Data Privacy practice and its National Security practice. He is also a member of the firm’s Congressional Investigations & Crisis Management team. Raj focuses on cutting-edge legal and policy issues at the nexus of technology, national security, law enforcement and privacy. He returned to Mayer Brown in 2015 after serving as General Counsel for the United States National Security Agency (NSA). Prior to the NSA, Raj served in the White House as Staff Secretary and Deputy Assistant to the President of the United States, and at the Department of Justice as Principal Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the Office of Legal Policy. Earlier in his career, he served as General Counsel to the Commission on the Prevention of Weapons of Mass Destruction Proliferation and Terrorism, Counsel to the United States Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, and Counsel to the National Commission on Terrorist Attacks Upon the United States (known as the “9/11 Commission”). Raj started his career at the Department of Justice, where he was a trial lawyer in the Antitrust Division under the Attorney General’s Honors Program. Raj has received a number of honors for his public service, including the US Attorney General’s John Marshall Award; Department of Defense Medal for Distinguished Civilian Service; National Intelligence Distinguished Service Medal; National Security Agency Director’s Distinguished Service Medal; National Security Agency Intelligence Under Law Award. Raj clerked for the Honorable A. Wallace Tashima of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in Pasadena, California. He graduated magna cum laude from both Harvard Law School and Harvard College.

Laura Donohue
Professor of Law
Director, Center on National Security and the Law
Georgetown Law

Laura Donohue is a Professor of Law at Georgetown Law, Director of Georgetown's Center on National Security and the Law, and Director of the Center on Privacy and Technology. She writes on constitutional law, legal history, emerging technologies, and national security law. Her most recent book, The Future of Foreign Intelligence: Privacy and Surveillance in a Digital Age (OUP, 2016), was awarded the 2016 IIT Chicago-Kent College of Law/Roy C. Palmer Civil Liberties Prize. Her articles have been published by California Law Review, University of Chicago Law Review, N.Y.U. Annual Survey of American Law, Stanford Law Review, University of Pennsylvania Law Review, Harvard Journal of Law and Public Policy, and other scholarly journals. In November 2015, the U.S. Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court appointed her as one of five amici curiae under the 2015 USA FREEDOM Act. Donohue obtained her AB in Philosophy (with Honors) from Dartmouth College; her MA in Peace Studies (with Distinction) from the University of Ulster, Northern Ireland; her JD (with Distinction) from Stanford Law School; and her PhD in History from the University of Cambridge, England.

Bronwyn Douglass
Senior Attorney
Maritime and International Law
Office of the Judge Advocate General, U.S. Coast Guard

Ms. Douglass is a senior attorney in the USCG Office of Maritime and International Law and has been working UNCLOS and legal regimes for the Arctic through the Legal Committee of the International Maritime Organization of the UN. This work includes the application of the Safety of Life at Sea Convention and Convention to Prevent Pollution From Ships to the Arctic, as well as the Polar Code. She has prior career experience in admiralty law before serving with the Coast Guard, and she is a graduate of the U.S. Naval War College.
Maj. Gen. Charles J. Dunlap Jr., USAF (ret.)
Professor of the Practice of Law
Executive Director, Center on Law, Ethics and National Security
Duke University School of Law

Major General Charles J. Dunlap Jr., USAF (Ret.) joined the Duke Law faculty in July 2010 where he is a professor of the practice of law and Executive Director of the Center on Law, Ethics and National Security. His teaching and scholarly writing focus on national security, law of armed conflict, the use of force under international law, civil-military relations, cyberwar, airpower, military justice, and ethical issues related to the practice of national security law. Dunlap retired from the Air Force in June 2010, having completed a 34-year career in the Judge Advocate General Corps. A prolific author and accomplished public speaker, Dunlap’s commentary on a wide variety of national security topics has been published in leading newspapers and military journals. His 2001 essay written for Harvard University’s Carr Center on “lawfare,” a concept he defines as “the use or misuse of law as a substitute for traditional military means to accomplish an operational objective,” has been highly influential among military scholars and in the broader legal academy. Dunlap has written articles on cyber-related matters including Perspectives for Cyber Strategists on Law for Cyberwar which appeared in the Spring 2011 issue of Strategic Studies Quarterly and his piece, The Hyper-Personalization of War: Cyber, Big Data, and the Changing Face of Conflict, appeared in the fall 2014 issue of the Georgetown Journal of International Affairs. His article, “Cybervandalism” or “Digital Act of War”? America’s Muddled Approach to Cyber Incidents Will Not Deter More Crises, will be published in the N.C. Journal of International Law (forthcoming, 2017), and his essay Social Justice and Silicon Valley: A Perspective on the Apple-FBI Case and the “Going Dark” Debate will be published in the Connecticut Law Review (forthcoming, 2017). He frequently writes about cyber issues on his blog, Lawfire:
https://sites.duke.edu/lawfire/

Julie Gascon
Assistant Commissioner
Central and Arctic Region
Canadian Coast Guard

Ms. Gascon is the Canadian Coast Guard Assistant Commissioner, Central and Arctic Region. She holds a Bachelor Degree in Business Administration from the University of Montreal (Hautes Études Commerciales) and a Bachelor of Technology in Nautical Sciences from the University College of Cape Breton. A graduate of the Canadian Coast Guard College (class of 1998), Ms. Gascon began her career in public service as an officer in what was then Coast Guard Pacific region. She also sailed in the commercial fleet on Very Large Crude Carriers and Large Passenger Vessels to complete the sea time required for her Master Mariner Certification, which she finished in 2005. Ms. Gascon then joined Transport Canada where she held several roles of increasing responsibility, from Senior Marine Safety Inspector to Executive Director, Domestic Vessel Regulatory Oversight and Boating Safety prior to returning to the Canadian Coast Guard as Assistant Commissioner in 2015. Ms. Gascon is responsible for the Central and Arctic Coast Guard region. This region includes more than 1,200 employees, five Marine Communication and Traffic Services Centres, 39 vessels, and 8 helicopters.

Susan Gibson
Inspector General
National Reconnaissance Office

Susan S. Gibson was confirmed as the Inspector General for the National Reconnaissance Office (NRO) by the United States Senate in 2016, and appointed by President Obama, making her the NRO’s first Senate-confirmed Inspector General. As the Inspector General, Ms. Gibson oversees the work of NRO Office of Inspector General investigators, auditors, inspectors, and support staff, whose mission is to promote economy and efficiency in NRO operations and to detect and deter waste, fraud, abuse, and misconduct in NRO programs. Prior to her current appointment, Ms. Gibson was the Principal Deputy General Counsel for the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI). Ms. Gibson provided legal advice and counsel for all issues affecting the ODNI, with an emphasis on government procurement and fiscal law, privacy and information-sharing, ethics, and administrative law. Before joining the ODNI, Ms. Gibson served for more than 20 years in the Army Judge Advocate General’s Corps, retiring as a Colonel. Ms. Gibson received her Bachelor of Arts from Monmouth College; her Juris Doctor from Seattle University; and two Master of Laws: one from the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General’s School, and a second from the University of Virginia School of Law.
Elizabeth Goitein
Co-Director, Liberty & National Security Program
Brennan Center for Justice at NYU School of Law

Elizabeth (Liza) Goitein co-directs the Brennan Center for Justice’s Liberty and National Security Program. Before coming to the Brennan Center, Ms. Goitein served as counsel to U.S. Senator Russell Feingold, Chairman of the Constitution Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee. As counsel to Sen. Feingold, Ms. Goitein handled a variety of liberty and national security matters, with a focus on government secrecy and privacy rights. Previously, Ms. Goitein was a trial attorney in the Federal Programs Branch of the Civil Division of the Department of Justice. She has testified before the Senate and House Judiciary Committees, provided commentary for major media outlets, and written extensively on matters relating to foreign intelligence surveillance.

Col. David E. Graham, USA (ret.)
Associate Director for Programs
Center for National Security Law
University of Virginia School of Law

Mr. Graham is the Associate Director for Programs at the Center for National Security Law, the University of Virginia School of Law. He is the former Executive Director of the Army’s Judge Advocate General’s Legal Center and School (LCS), having served in that capacity for 14 years. He served as a professor and Department head of the School’s International/Operational Law Department, as well as the Academic Director of the School and the Director of the Center for Law and Military Operations, now an integral part of the LCS. A retired Army Judge Advocate Colonel with 31 years of experience, he was the Chief of the International/Operational Law Division, Office of The Judge Advocate General, Department of the Army, for the last eight years of his active duty, following a mix of assignments in the United States, Europe, Latin America, and the Middle East. During the course of his career, Mr. Graham played the seminal role in developing the field of Operational Law. He is a published author in multiple legal publications and has lectured extensively in both U.S. and international fora. His education includes: Texas A&M University, BA in History, 1966; The George Washington University, MA in International Affairs, 1968; The University of Texas School of Law, JD, 1971; Certificate, The Hague Academy of International Law. Mr. Graham is a Distinguished Graduate of the National War College, a graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College, and currently serves as a member of the ABA’s Standing Committee on Law and National Security and on the Editorial Board of the Journal of National Security Law and Policy. He is admitted to the Supreme Court of Texas, the Court of Military Appeals, and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Susan Hennessey
Managing Editor
Lawfare

Susan Hennessey is a Fellow in National Security in Governance Studies at the Brookings Institution. She is the Executive Editor of the Lawfare blog, which is devoted to sober and serious discussion of “Hard National Security Choices.” She focuses on national security issues surrounding cybersecurity, surveillance, federal terrorism prosecutions, and congressional oversight of the intelligence community. Prior to joining Brookings, Ms. Hennessey was an attorney in the Office of General Counsel of the National Security Agency. She received her J.D. from Harvard Law School and B.A. from the University of California, Los Angeles.

Jamil Jaffer
Adjunct Professor of Law and Director, National Security Law & Policy Program
Antonin Scalia Law School
George Mason University

Jamil N. Jaffer currently serves as Vice President for Strategy & Business Development at IronNet Cybersecurity, a startup technology firm founded by former National Security Agency Director Gen. Keith Alexander (ret.) and former National Counterterrorism Center Director Matt Olsen. Jamil is also an advisor to Beacon Global Strategies, a strategic advisory firm specializing in international policy, defense, cyber, intelligence, and homeland security and serves as an advisor to 4iQ, a startup technology company focused on web intelligence and identity theft. Jamil also currently serves as the Founder of National Security Institute and as an Adjunct Professor of Law and Director of the National Security Law & Policy Program at the Antonin Scalia Law School at George Mason University, where he teaches classes on counterterrorism, intelligence, surveillance, cybersecurity, and other national security matters. Jamil is also a Visiting Fellow at the Hoover Institution, is affiliated with Stanford University’s Center for International Security and Cooperation, and recently served as a clerk to Justice Neil M. Gorsuch of the United States Supreme Court. Prior to his current positions, Jamil served as the Chief Counsel and Senior Advisor for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.
Prior to joining SFRC, Jamil served as Senior Counsel to the House Intelligence Committee where he led the committee’s oversight of NSA surveillance, NRO, and NGA matters, as well as intelligence community-wide counterterrorism matters. In the Bush Administration, Jamil served in the White House as an Associate Counsel to the President, handling Defense Department, State Department, and Intelligence Community matters. In that capacity, Jamil also served as one of the White House Counsel’s primary representatives to the National Security Council Deputies Committee. Prior to the White House, Jamil served in the Justice Department as Counsel to the Assistant Attorney General for National Security, where he focused on counterterrorism and intelligence matters. Jamil was awarded the Assistant Attorney General’s Award for Special Initiative and was among the group of lawyers awarded the Director of National Intelligence’s 2008 Legal Award (Team of the Year – Cyber Legal). Jamil also served in other positions in the Justice Department, including in the Office of Legal Policy, where he worked on the confirmations of Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr. and Justice Samuel A. Alito, Jr. to the United States Supreme Court. Jamil has previously taught graduate-level courses in intelligence law and policy at the George Washington University’s Elliott School of International Affairs and at the National Intelligence University and serves on the Board of Directors for the Center for Intelligence Policy and on the Board of Advisors for the Concordia Summit. Jamil holds degrees from UCLA (B.A., cum laude), the University of Chicago Law School (J.D., with honors), and the United States Naval War College (M.A., with distinction).

Amy Jeffress
Partner
Arnold & Porter Kaye Scholer

Amy Jeffress is a partner in the White Collar Defense and National Security practices in Arnold & Porter Kaye Scholer’s Washington office. She represents clients in criminal defense, national security, government contracts, and compliance matters. She conducts internal investigations and advises companies and individuals on a wide range of issues, with a focus on export enforcement, FCPA, classified information, and mutual legal assistance and other international law enforcement issues, including extradition and INTERPOL notices. Before joining the firm, Ms. Jeffress served as the Justice Department Attaché to the US Embassy in London, where she coordinated cooperation between the US and the UK on criminal matters. She previously served as Counselor to the Attorney General, advising the Attorney General and senior Department leadership and interfacing regularly with the White House and National Security Council, the intelligence community, and other agencies on national security investigations and prosecutions and international matters. From 1996 to 2009 she was an Assistant US Attorney in the District of Columbia, where she tried more than 40 cases and served as Chief of the National Security Section, conducting and supervising investigations and prosecutions of international and domestic terrorism, espionage, export control violations, and other crimes related to national security. Ms. Jeffress received her JD in 1992 from Yale Law School, where she served as an Articles Editor for the Yale Law Journal. She earned a degree in Political Science from Freie Universitaet Berlin and graduated magna cum laude with a BA in Political Science from Williams College.

Alexander Joel
Chief, Office of Civil Liberties, Privacy and Transparency
Office of the Director of National Intelligence

Alexander W. Joel is the Chief of the Office of Civil Liberties, Privacy and Transparency (CLPT) for the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI). CLPT works to ensure that the Intelligence Community carries out its national security mission in a manner that protects privacy and civil liberties, and, at the same time, provides appropriate transparency to the public. As Chief of CLPT, Mr. Joel serves as the Civil Liberties Protection Officer. Reporting directly to the Director of National Intelligence, the Civil Liberties Protection Officer’s responsibilities include ensuring that the protection of privacy and civil liberties is appropriately incorporated in Intelligence Community policies and procedures, reviewing complaints of possible abuses of privacy and civil liberties in programs and operations administered by the ODNI, and ensuring that the use of technology sustains, and does not erode, privacy. Mr. Joel's appointment to this position was announced by then-Director of National Intelligence John Negroponte in December 2005. In addition, Mr. Joel serves as the ODNI’s Chief Transparency Officer. In that capacity, he chairs the Intelligence Transparency Council, and leads and coordinates the IC’s efforts to enhance transparency, consistent with the Principles of Intelligence Transparency for the Intelligence Community. Director of National Intelligence James Clapper named him to that position in October 2015. Mr. Joel began his professional career as an officer in the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General’s Corps, with assignments that included both prosecution and criminal defense. He then worked as a technology attorney at the law firm of Shaw, Pittman, Potts & Trowbridge in Washington, D.C. (now Pillsbury Winthrop), and as the privacy, technology, and e-commerce attorney for Marriott International, Inc. Following 9/11, he worked as an attorney at the Central Intelligence Agency’s Office of General Counsel. He joined the ODNI when it was stood up in 2005. Mr. Joel formerly served on the Board of Directors of the International Association of Privacy Professionals. Mr. Joel received his law degree from the University of Michigan, and his undergraduate degree from Princeton University.
F. Scott Kieff
Fred C. Stevenson Research Professor of Law
George Washington University Law School

F. Scott Kieff served as a Commissioner of the U.S. International Trade Commission from October 2013 through June 2017, when he returned to being a professor at GW Law School and a Senior Fellow at Stanford University’s Hoover Institution. Since entering academia in 1999, he has worked extensively as a mediator, arbitrator, or compliance monitor; as a strategic consultant for a particular party; and as a strategic and tactical consultant to various high-level government offices during the Bush, Obama, and Trump Presidential Administrations. He focuses on the fields of trade, intellectual property, antitrust, finance, privacy, cyber, securities regulation, and national security. Before academia, he was a trial lawyer, patent lawyer, and Law Clerk to U.S. Circuit Judge Giles S. Rich. He studied law at Penn and molecular biology and microeconomics at MIT. He was inducted as a Member of the European Academy of Sciences and Arts in March 2012.

Ambassador Robert Kimmitt
Senior International Counsel
WilmerHale

Robert Kimmitt is senior international counsel at WilmerHale. From 2005-2009, he served as Deputy Secretary of the U.S. Treasury, where he had significant responsibility for the Department’s international agenda, including his leadership of the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS). He served as U.S. Ambassador to Germany from 1991-1993; Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs from 1989-1991; and General Counsel to the U.S. Treasury from 1985-1987. He also served in the Reagan White House as National Security Council Executive Secretary and General Counsel from 1983-1985, with the rank of Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. During 1997 Mr. Kimmitt was a member of the National Defense Panel, and from 1998-2005 he was a member of the Director of Central Intelligence’s National Security Advisory Panel. Ambassador Kimmitt served in combat in Vietnam with the 173rd Airborne Brigade and retired as a Major General in the Army Reserve. In addition to his government service, Ambassador Kimmitt served as Executive Vice President, Global Public Policy, at Time Warner from 2001-2005. Prior to that, he was Vice Chairman and President of Commerce One, a Silicon Valley software company. Ambassador Kimmitt has authored many articles, including "Public Footprints in Private Markets," a seminal look at Sovereign Wealth Funds that was published in Foreign Affairs magazine.

Orde Kittrie
Professor of Law
Sandra Day O’Connor College of Law
Arizona State University

Orde Kittrie is a Professor of Law and the DC Semester Program director for the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law at Arizona State University. He is an expert on international law, and author of the book Lawfare: Law as a Weapon of War (Oxford University Press, 2016). The book describes how and why law is becoming an increasingly powerful and prevalent weapon of war, drawing on examples of lawfare use by the U.S., China, Israel, the Palestinians, and several non-governmental organizations and individuals. Kittrie is also a leading expert on nonproliferation law and policy. He has testified before various Senate and House committees, and served on a special National Academies of Science commission, regarding the proliferation of nuclear, chemical and biological weapons. Prior to entering academia, Kittrie served for eleven years at the United States Department of State. As the Department's lead nuclear affairs attorney, Kittrie helped negotiate five U.S.-Russia nuclear agreements and a U.N. treaty to combat nuclear terrorism. In other assignments at the State Department, Kittrie served as Director of the Department’s Office of International Anti-Crime Programs, as the department’s lead attorney for strategic trade controls, and as a lead attorney for public affairs and public diplomacy. He also served as Special Assistant to the Under Secretary of State for Economic, Business and Agricultural Affairs.

Caroline Krass
Partner
Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher

Caroline Krass is a partner in the Washington, D.C. office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher and Chair of the firm’s National Security Practice Group. She advises clients on matters involving national security, intelligence, cybersecurity, data privacy, surveillance, economic sanctions, the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS), government investigations, and regulatory issues. Before joining Gibson Dunn in May 2017, Ms. Krass served as General Counsel of the CIA, appointed by President Obama following overwhelming Senate confirmation on a bipartisan basis in March 2014. As General Counsel, she served as the agency’s Chief Legal Officer,
Robert Litt
Counsel
Morrison & Foerster

Bob Litt, former General Counsel for the Director of National Intelligence, is of counsel in Morrison & Foerster’s national security and global risk & crisis management practices. He is also an Adjunct Research Scholar in Columbia Law School's National Security Law Program. As General Counsel for the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI), he oversaw a team of attorneys providing legal advice to the agency and led interagency national security meetings. As spokesman for the intelligence community both domestically and overseas on issues relating to surveillance and privacy, Mr. Litt was a key member of the U.S. team that negotiated the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield with the European Commission. Prior to joining ODNI, Mr. Litt worked at the Department of Justice, serving as Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the Criminal Division and as the Principal Associate Deputy Attorney General. He also served as special advisor to the Assistant Secretary of State for European and Canadian Affairs. Mr. Litt was also an Assistant U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York. He began his legal career as a law clerk for Judge Edward Weinfeld in the Southern District of New York and for Justice Potter Stewart of the U.S. Supreme Court. He holds a B.A. from Harvard College and an M.A. and J.D. from Yale University.

RADM Kevin E. Lunday, USCG

Rear Admiral Lunday Kevin E. Lunday, U.S. Coast Guard, is a career attorney and judge advocate who is licensed to practice law in the Commonwealth of Virginia. In his personal capacity, he serves as a member of the Advisory Committee to the Standing Committee on Law and National Security of the American Bar Association. Rear Admiral Lunday currently commands Coast Guard Cyber Command and serves as the Assistant Commandant for Command, Control, Communications, Computers and Information Technology (C4IT). As Commander of Coast Guard Cyber Command, he is responsible for delivering effects in and through cyberspace to operate and defend Coast Guard networks, enable Coast Guard operations and protect the U.S. maritime transportation system. As the Assistant Commandant for C4IT, he is responsible for the management and oversight of all Coast Guard C4IT operational, business, and infrastructure assets. Rear Admiral Lunday previously served as the Director of Exercises and Training (J7), U.S. Cyber Command where he was responsible for joint training of the Cyber Mission Force and delivery of a trained and ready cyberspace forces for the Department of Defense. Rear Admiral Lunday is a Distinguished Graduate of the National War College with a Master of Science in National Security Strategy and a graduate of the Naval War College (College of Command and Staff). He holds a Juris Doctor from George Washington University Law School and Bachelor of Science in Marine Engineering from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy.

James McJunkin
Vice President & Chief Information Security Officer
Discover Financial Services

Mr. James W. McJunkin is a Vice President/CISO at Discover Financial Services. He is responsible for second-line risk management of Information Security and all aspects of Security and Investigations, enterprise-wide. He is a graduate of Penn State University, and received his CISO certification from Carnegie Mellon University. Mr. McJunkin oversees the following core areas of responsibility: Information Security, Financial Crimes Detection, Internal Investigations, Business Continuity Planning, Security Operations, Executive Protection, Background Investigation and Workplace Violence Prevention for Discover, globally. Prior to Discover, Mr. McJunkin spent nearly 30 years in state and federal government as a law enforcement professional. He began his career as a trooper with the Pennsylvania State Police and then became a Special Agent in the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). He served as a field agent in both the San Antonio and Atlanta Field Offices, along with the position of Supervisory Senior Resident Agent while assigned to the Atlanta Field Office. After the terror attacks of September 11, 2001, Mr. McJunkin was promoted to the Counterterrorism Division at FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) where, over the course of nearly ten years, he held the ascending positions of Unit Chief, Assistant Section Chief, Section Chief, Deputy Assistant Director, and Assistant Director at FBIHQ; and Assistant Special Agent in Charge, Acting Special Agent, and Assistant Director in charge of the Washington Field Office. Mr. McJunkin’s federal law enforcement career culminated with his service in significant senior executive leadership positions of Assistant Director, Counterterrorism Division and Assistant Director in charge of the Washington (DC) Field Office.

John Norton Moore
Walter L. Brown Professor of Law and Director
Center for Oceans Law & Policy
Center for National Security Law
University of Virginia School of Law

John Norton Moore is the Walter L. Brown Professor of Law at the University of Virginia School of Law. He also directs the University’s Center for National Security Law and the Center for Oceans Law & Policy and was the Director of the Graduate Law Program at Virginia for more than twenty years. Viewed by many as the founder of the field of national security law, Professor Moore chaired the prestigious American Bar Association’s Standing Committee on Law and National Security for four terms. He is the author or editor of over 35 books and over 170 scholarly articles. He served for two decades on the editorial board of the American Journal of International Law and is currently an honorary editor of the Journal, in addition to serving on the editorial board of the Journal of National Security Law & Policy. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, the American Law Institute (Life Member), the American Society of International Law, the Order of the Coif, Phi Beta Kappa, and numerous other professional and honorary organizations. Among seven Presidential appointments, he has served two terms as the Senate-confirmed Chairman of the Board of Directors of the United States Institute of Peace and, as the first Chairman, set up this new agency. He also served as the Counselor on International Law to the Department of State, and as Ambassador and Deputy Special Representative of the President to the Law of the Sea Conference, Chairman of the NSC Interagency Task Force on the Law of the Sea, and as a member of the United States’ legal team before the International Court of Justice in the Gulf of Maine and Nicaragua cases. Professor Moore served as a Member of the Director of Central Intelligence’s Historical Review Board from 1998-2002. In the recent past, he has served as a Consultant to both the President’s Intelligence Oversight Board and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. He has also been a member of the National Advisory Committee on Oceans and Atmosphere, the United States Delegation to the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe, and the Presidential Delegation of the United States to observe the elections in El Salvador. In 1990, he served, with the Associate Attorney-General of the United States, as the Co-Chairman of the United States-USSR talks on the Rule of Law. He also served as the legal advisor to the Kuwait Representative to the United Nations Iraq-Kuwait Boundary Demarcation Commission. Currently he is also a consultant to the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) Society. In 2013 Professor Moore received the American Bar Association’s Morris I. Leibman Award in National Security Law. He is on the International Law Studies Board of Advisors at the Stockton Center for the Study of International Law, Naval War College, 2017-.

Michael Page
Policy and Ethics Advisor
OpenAI

Michael Page is Policy and Ethics Advisor at OpenAI, a nonprofit AI research company committed to discovering and enacting the path to safe artificial general intelligence. At OpenAI, Michael focuses on the long-term political and ethical implications of advanced AI systems. He previously worked at the Centre for Effective Altruism in the United Kingdom, where he explored the most effective ways to improve the long-run future. Before that he was a litigation associate at Williams & Connolly LLP, a staff attorney at Public Citizen Litigation Group, and an adjunct professor at American University Washington College of Law. Michael received a JD magna cum laude from Cornell Law School where he was the editor-in-chief of the Cornell Law Review. He clerked for Honorable Guido Calabresi on the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Ingrid Price
Associate
Covington & Burling

Ingrid Price is an associate at Covington & Burling where she advises clients on a range of national security and public policy matters. She represents clients worldwide seeking national security approval for foreign investments before the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS) and advises clients seeking to mitigate foreign ownership, control, or influence (FOCI) under national industrial security regulations. Prior to joining Covington, she clerked for Chief Judge James E. Baker of the U.S. Court of Jill D. Rhodes is Vice President and Chief Information Security Officer for Option Care, Inc. in Bannockburn, Illinois. In this role, she is responsible for building and implementing an information security program for this multibillion-dollar healthcare company. Her work includes all facets of information security governance, education, process development, and technology implementation. Prior to this, she held a similar position for an insurance company in Illinois. Before moving to the private sector, Ms. Rhodes spent 20 years working in and with the federal government. She joined the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) in February 2007. Ms. Rhodes supported the intelligence community (IC) integration of data and security into their Cloud Environment for the IC Chief Information Office. Prior to this, Ms. Rhodes was on detail to the CIA, where she worked with data management, foreign language, and training matters on behalf of the National Clandestine Service, addressing issues such as data security and exploitation. Ms. Rhodes had held various leadership roles within the intelligence community, including the deputy chief of staff for the ODNI and the assistant deputy director of national intelligence for education and training.

Prior to joining the ODNI, Ms. Rhodes worked on national security related issues within the Department of Homeland Security Office of the General Counsel and Civil Rights and Civil Liberties Office. Ms. Rhodes is a former Foreign Service Officer with the U.S. Agency for International. Prior to joining the Foreign Service, Ms. Rhodes had her own company and traveled globally supporting third-world nations in the rewriting of their constitutions and electoral codes. Ms. Rhodes was co-editor of the first and second editions of The ABA Cybersecurity Handbook: A Resource for Attorneys, Law Firms, and Business Professionals (2013 & 2018) and edited the book National Security Law, Fifty Years of Transformation: An Anthology (ABA 2012), sponsored by the ABA Standing Committee on Law and National Security. In addition, she had written on topics such as the development of regional emergency management systems, military use of radio frequency identification, quarantine law, privacy and technology, and consumer data administrators. She is a graduate of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, the University of Cincinnati College of Law (JD), and the George Washington University College of Law (LLM). She is also a certified information security manager, certified information privacy professional/IT, and certified project management professional.

Lala Qadir is an associate in Covington & Burling's Washington, D.C. office. Her practice focuses on complex litigation, white collar matters, internal investigations, and public policy and government affairs. Ms. Qadir also has several years of leadership and management experience in organizational transformation, strategic planning and performance management. Before attending law school, Ms. Qadir led federal and international government clients in aligning strategy and driving accountability as a strategic management consultant with Booz Allen in the areas of national security, homeland defense, and judicial reform. She previously served as Director of Strategy and Performance for the Abu Dhabi Judicial Department in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates, and was a Harvard University Center for Public Leadership Fellow with the F.W. de Klerk Foundation in Cape Town, South Africa. She has also published scientific articles in the areas of military energetics and nanotechnology. Prior to joining the firm, Ms. Qadir clerked for Chief Judge James E. Baker of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces.

Harvey Rishikof is the Director and Convening Authority for the Office of Military Commissions. Mr. Rishikof is formerly a senior counsel in Crowell & Moring's Privacy & Cybersecurity and Government Contracts groups in Washington, D.C. Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Rishikof was the dean of faculty, National War College at the National Defense University, Washington, D.C. Mr. Rishikof is the chair of the American Bar Association Advisory Standing Committee on Law and National Security, former co-chair with Judy Miller of the ABA Cybersecurity Legal Task Force, and a lifetime member of the American Law Institute and the Council on Foreign Relations. Over his career, Mr. Rishikof has been a member of Hale and Dorr and has held multiple positions in government focused on national and cyber security issues. He most recently served as senior policy advisor to the National Counterintelligence Executive (NCIX), the agency responsible for counterintelligence and insider threat management across the federal government. He has also served at the FBI as a legal counsel to the deputy director of the FBI focusing on national security and terrorism and served as liaison to the Office of the Attorney General at the Department of Justice. Prior to serving as dean, he was a professor of National Security Law at the National War College and dean of Roger Williams University School of Law. Mr. Ristikof was AA to the Chief Justice of the United States and a Judicial Fellow with the Administrative Office of the Federal Courts. He was a federal law clerk to Judge Leonard I. Garth (3d. Cir.).

Lt. Col. Alan Schuller, USMC
Associate Director
Stockton Center for the Study of International Law
U.S. Naval War College

Lieutenant Colonel Schuller served as an artillery officer before becoming a judge advocate. He has performed duties as a prosecutor, defense counsel, and unit commander. LtCol Schuller served as the Staff Judge Advocate (SJA), 3d Marine Aircraft Wing (Forward) while deployed to Afghanistan in 2010. He deployed in 2013 as the SJA for Special Purpose Marine Air-Ground Task Force - Crisis Response in support of operations in U.S. Africa Command. He deployed again in 2014 as SJA of the 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit and supported operations in U.S. Central Command. LtCol Schuller currently serves as Associate Director of the Stockton Center for the Study of International Law at the U.S. Naval War College, where his research is focused on autonomy in weapon systems. LtCol Schuller is a Fellow with the Georgetown Center on National Security and the Law. His article “At the Crossroads of Control: The Intersection of Artificial Intelligence in Autonomous Weapon Systems with International Humanitarian Law” was recently published in Harvard Law School’s National Security Journal.

The Honorable David Skaggs
Former Congressional Representative
2nd District, Colorado

David Skaggs earned a B.A. in philosophy from Wesleyan University in 1964, and studied law at the University of Virginia for one year, before completing his LL.B. at Yale. He entered active duty in the U.S. Marine Corps in 1968 and served on Okinawa, in Vietnam, and at Marine Corps Headquarters in Washington, and later attained the rank of Major in the Marine Corps Reserve. He practiced law in Boulder, Colorado, and was chief-of-staff to then Congressman Timothy E. Wirth of Colorado in 1975-77. Skaggs served three terms as Colorado state representative from 1981-87, the last two terms as Minority Leader, and then was elected to the U.S. House serving six terms (1987-99), with his last four terms on the Appropriations Committee and last three on the Intelligence Committee. Skaggs was a leader in efforts to improve the House of Representatives: founding with Congressman Ray LaHood (R-Illinois) the House Bipartisan Retreat; was co-founder with Representative Jim Leach (R-Iowa) of the Constitutional Forum; and was Chairman of the Democratic Study Group during the 104th Congress. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration’s Boulder laboratories are named for him: the David Skaggs Research Center. After leaving Congress, Skaggs founded the Center for Democracy & Citizenship. He returned to Colorado in 2006 and served in the cabinet of Governor Bill Ritter as Executive Director of the Colorado Department of Higher Education. He currently is Co-Chair of the Board of the Office of Congressional Ethics of the U.S. House and a Senior Advisor with Dentons US LLP. He has been an Adjunct Professor at the University of Colorado Law School and is currently a trustee of the National Endowment for Democracy, the American University of Iraq, and the U.S. Association of Former Members of Congress, from which he received its 2017 Distinguished Service Award. He was a member the Secretary of Energy’s Task Force on Nonproliferation Programs in Russia (the “Baker-Cutler Task Force”) in 1999-2000 and in 1999 served on the Secretary of State’s Overseas Presence Advisory Panel. Since 2005, with former Congressman Mickey Edwards (R-OK), he has co-chaired the War Powers Initiative, a bi-partisan project of The Constitution Project.

Don Vieira
Partner
Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom

Don Vieira is a partner at Skadden Arps Slate Meagher & Flom. Mr. Vieira has significant experience representing clients in national security reviews before the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS) and assisting clients on related issues, including Defense Security Service (DSS) export control compliance and economic sanctions. Mr. Vieira also represents numerous clients dealing with cybersecurity issues. Mr. Vieira was chief of staff of the National Security Division (NSD) and counselor to the assistant attorney general for national security at the Department of Justice (DOJ). He also supervised the DOJ’s Foreign Investment Review Staff, which is responsible for representing the Justice Department on CFIUS and related Exon/Florio activities, as well as the Federal Communication Commission’s Team Telecom process. Prior to his appointment as NSD’s chief of staff, Mr. Vieira served as deputy chief counsel to the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence (HPSCI) and staff director of HPSCI’s Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations. He also has served as a federal prosecutor in the DOJ’s Counterespionage...
Section, where he participated in the successful prosecution of espionage cases as well as export and economic sanctions enforcement matters.

David Vladeck
A.B. Chettle Chair in Civil Procedure
Georgetown Law

Professor Vladeck teaches federal courts, civil procedure, administrative law, and seminars in First Amendment litigation, and serves as faculty director for the law school’s Center on Privacy and Technology. Professor Vladeck recently returned to the Law Center after serving for nearly four years as the Director of the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Consumer Protection. At the FTC, he supervised the Bureau's more than 430 lawyers, investigators, paralegals and support staff in carrying out the Bureau's work to protect consumers from unfair, deceptive or fraudulent practices. Before joining the Law Center faculty full-time in 2002, Professor Vladeck spent over 25 years with Public Citizen Litigation Group, a nationally-prominent public interest law firm, handling and supervising complex litigation. He has briefed and argued a number of cases before the U.S. Supreme Court and more than sixty cases before federal courts of appeal and state courts of law resort. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences Committee on Science, Law and Technology and its Forum on Cyber Resilience. He serves on the boards of the Natural Resources Defense Council and the National Consumer Law Center. And he is a Senior Fellow of the Administrative Conference of the United States and an elected member of the American Law Institute. Professor Vladeck frequently testifies before Congress and writes on administrative law, privacy and technology, preemption, First Amendment, and access to justice issues.

The Honorable Zachary Wamp
Former Congressional Representative
3rd District, Tennessee

Zach Wamp represented Tennessee’s Third District in the United States Congress from 1995-2011. He is presently engaged as a consultant in the energy, defense, and transportation sectors for some of the most prominent companies in the world. In Congress, he served as the ranking member of the Military Construction/Veterans Affairs Subcommittee and prior to that as the ranking member of the Legislative Branch Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee on which he served for fourteen years. Among his notable achievements in Congress, Zach helped establish The Tennessee Valley Technology Corridor and the United States Department of Homeland Security. He co-sponsored the America Competes Act which authorized STEM education as part of the Primary and Secondary Education Act. While in Congress, Zach chaired the Renewable Energy Caucus, the Robotics Caucus and the TVA Caucus. He also served on the Transportation Committee, the Science Committee, the Small Business Committee, the Steering Committee, the Commerce/Justice/State Subcommittee, the Interior Subcommittee and the influential Energy and Water Subcommittee for twelve years. Zach was a regular panelist for four years on The News Hour with Jim Lehrer. Zach currently chairs the boards of Learning Blade- a STEM education curriculum provider. He also serves on the boards of THANKS-USA (a 501(c)(3) organization providing scholarships to children of our nations soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines) and the Gospel Music Association of America.