Hi, I read on the Faculty Lounge Blog that this was the appropriate address to submit comments on the current tenure issue that has law professors worried. I actually have blogged on the matter -- a little tongue in cheek but sincerely -- and would like this note and the material at the link below added to the record.

To summarize, I reject all the views based on academic freedom but I do support tenure because some of the worst and least productive behavior that takes place on law faculties is that which occurs during a period of job insecurity.

http://classbias.blogspot.com/2014/01/the-privileged-need-tenure-to-speak.html#links

Jeffrey L. Harrison
Stephen C. O'Connell Chair and Professor of Law
College of Law
University of Florida
Gainesville, Florida 32611