Dear Commission Members,

On behalf of Law School Transparency and the Iowa State Bar Young Lawyers Division, I submit our 2018 report on law school accreditation, transparency, and diversity. It is the product of dedicated young attorneys who want to see a stronger, lasting profession that is capable of attracting new members who advance justice and the rule of law. The report has widespread, growing support among young attorneys. We ask that Commission members read the report and consider offering an endorsement as a thought leader in legal education. This would serve as concrete evidence to young lawyers that their concerns about law school debt and more are taken seriously by those tasked by the ABA President of reimagining the profession that we will lead in the near future.
