Hello,

In regards to ABA Model Rule 8.4, I agree with the objections presented in the "Joint Comment of the 52 ABA Member Attorneys." Each American - attorneys included - have the right to abide by their religious principles while engaged in business. Religious viewpoints and convictions deserve equal consideration and equal tolerance, and ought not to be discriminated against. The respectful and constitutional practice of law must continue to allow attorneys to exercise their professional autonomy, whether or not they are religious.

Thank you,

Kristi Brown

Kristi Burton Brown, J.D.

Licensed in California and admitted to the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals