ABA TAX SECTION RECOGNIZES OUTSTANDING YOUNG TAX LAWYERS,
NAMES SIX 2004 NOLAN FELLOWS

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 27, 2004 -- The American Bar Association Section of Taxation today announced the recipients of its 2004 Nolan Fellows awards. Nolan Fellows are younger tax lawyers who have demonstrated an interest in the Section of Taxation and are actively involved in section activities. With few exceptions, recipients are required to be a member of the section for five years or less and to have attended at least one section meeting.

The six 2004 Nolan Fellows include:

- Flora Town Hezel, Community Tax Law Project in Richmond, Va.
- Mark C. Jones, Pillsbury Winthrop of New York
- Joseph B Schimmel, Cohen, Chase Hoffman & Schimmel in Miami
- Virginia Stevenson, Sidley, Austin, Brown & Wood in Washington, D.C.
- Brain Trauman, Mayer Brown in Charlotte, N.C.
- Lisa Zarlenga, Steptoe & Johnson in Washington, D.C.

“Each of these bright, young lawyers brings new energy to the practice of tax law,” said Richard A. Shaw, chair of the ABA Section of Taxation. “It is my expectation that the new fellows will follow the honored tradition of their predecessors by becoming actively involved in the future leadership of the section.”

Each one-year fellowship includes the waiver of meeting registration fees and assistance with travel to some section meetings.
