Linda L. Anderson is a staff attorney at Bay Area Legal Services, Inc. in Tampa, Florida where she assists individuals with limited access to legal services with their civil legal needs. She focuses primarily on housing law; consumer law; and some Veteran's issues. In her capacity at Bay Area Legal Services, Linda instituted and manages its iLawyer Clinic which connects low income citizens of Tampa Bay to pro bono attorneys using video chat services. Linda is licensed to practice in Florida and Illinois. Prior to joining Bay Area Legal Services, Linda was a supervising attorney of the John Marshall Law School's Pro Bono Clinic where she supervised and trained law students to represent clients in pro bono matters. In her previous position, she litigated housing and other small claims cases.

Linda received her undergraduate degree in psychology from the University of Illinois and her J.D. from the John Marshall Law School in Chicago, Illinois.

Linda is also involved in the American Bar Association as a member of the Government and Public Sector Lawyers Division; a member of the Young Lawyers Division Access to Legal Services Committee; and holds a leadership position as a YLD Disaster Legal Services team member. She is also involved in the Florida Association of Women Lawyers (Hillsborough County Division) as a member of the Community Outreach Committee. Linda is an active participant of the Hillsborough County Bar Association and holds a leadership position as the Co-Chair for the Young Lawyer's Division Pro Bono Committee.
