This workshop was held at the 2018 Equal Justice Conference in San Diego, California.

Title:
Oh, The Cool Things We Can Do Together!

Presenters:
Ana Maria Garcia, Neighborhood Legal Services of Los Angeles County, Glendale, CA

Bonnie R. Hough, Judicial Council of California's Center for Families, Children & the Courts, San Francisco, CA

Stacey Marz, Self-Help & Language Access Services, Anchorage, AK

There are amazing developments in courts and legal services that provide the opportunity for radically expanding access to justice and fairness for all. How can we collaborate to ensure that we are bringing as many people to the table as possible? How can we try to avoid duplication of effort? How can we build the most effective continuum of services?
Developing Relationships Between Self Help, Legal Services and Lawyer Referral Programs
Worksheet for Self-Help Centers Planning

1. Which issues do we think face self-represented litigants that would benefit from discussions with legal services agencies in our community?  What are some potential solutions to those issues?

___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________

2. Which issues do we think face self-represented litigants that would benefit from discussions with lawyer referral programs?  What are some potential solutions to those issues?

___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________

3. Which issues do we think face self-represented litigants and/or our staff that would benefit from discussions with the local bar or specialty bars?  What are some potential solutions to those issues?

___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________
4. What mechanisms do we currently have for having these conversations? Are there others that would be helpful? Regular meetings, participation in court management discussions, informal lunches, training sessions, county-wide self-represented litigant task force …?

______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

5. What kinds of triage protocols have we developed? When do we refer people to attorneys? Have we developed referral protocols for these cases with legal services? Lawyer referral services?

______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

6. Do we have legal services agencies providing assistance in the courthouse or with our program? Are there ways we could coordinate those services even more effectively?