About the ABA Law Firm Marketing Strategies Conference

In today's ultra-competitive legal marketplace, lawyers and law firms are fighting for market share. Whether your clients are Fortune 500 companies, midsize businesses or the consumer-on-the-street, the keys to successful, ongoing growth rest in your own hands. Learn the tools of the trade you need to ensure future business development success.

Your reputation is paramount, and knowing how to let the world know about the good work you do is mission one. Much of that business is tied to referrals—by happy clients, colleagues and networks that can keep new business flowing. And how you rank means different things to different attorneys and practices—when and where does it matter?

The inaugural ABA Law Firm Marketing Strategies Conference focused on the 30th anniversary of Bates v. Arizona and ethical considerations. In 2009, the second conference looked at a lawyer's ability to differentiate him or herself in a crowded market. Now, the third biannual conference looks at R³—and the core elements that go into true business development success. We return to the Four Seasons Hotel in Philadelphia, PA, November 8–9, 2011 for two days that can shape your firm's marketing for the future.

When Compared To Other Conferences...

- Learn from our faculty of attorneys who speak based on actual experience, not sales pitches
- Our Keynote Speakers are experts in the topics you need and want to know about: emotion in marketing and how clients use the Internet to find lawyers
- Networking with other attendees before, during and after the event is facilitated through our social media channels so you can expand your contacts

HEAR FROM A PREVIOUS ATTENDEE...

The 2009 ABA Law Firm Marketing Strategies Conference was electric with ideas that impact our firm's bottom dollar! As a result, we immediately implemented many of the exceptional tips and redefined the marketing strategy for our law firm. I look forward to the 2011 Conference which will build upon these great programs and open yet more doors to new business.

9:00AM – 10:00AM

Keynote #1: Lie to Me! “Emotion Management” of Your Marketing Will Invite Trust, Not Contempt

Dan Hill, President, Sensory Logic, Inc., Minneapolis, MN

Does your marketing enhance or hinder your reputation as a lawyer? It’s a well-worn yet true cliché that “trust is the emotion of business.” There is probably not a profession in which that holds truer than the business of law.

Thanks to the power of “facial coding”, it is remarkably easy to predict what a buyer thinks of you and your message. We welcome our keynote speaker, Dan Hill, an internationally recognized authority on the use of facial coding to identify what works in marketing for his global, Fortune 500 clientele. Learn how your efforts can attract and gain credibility.

The author of Body of Truth: Leveraging What Consumers Can’t or Won’t Say; Emotionomics: Leveraging Emotions for Business Success (chosen by Ad Age as one of “10 Books You Should Have Read in 2009”); and About Face: Ten Secrets to Emotionally Effective Advertising, Hill is frequently featured in the national media discussing facial coding analysis in matters ranging from presidential elections to the baseball steroid scandal.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 2011

Peter Shankman, Founder, Help A Reporter Out, Founder and CEO,
The Geek Factory, Inc., New York City, NY

Peter Shankman has been described as “redefining the art of networking.” Learn how social media, marketing and public relations converge on the Internet to change the way lawyers see themselves...and more importantly, are seen and retained.

ROI: Examining the Return on Investment for Business Development Spending

As law firm investment in marketing and business development efforts increase, so does the interest in understanding how much to spend and how to measure success. In this program, we examine strategic budgeting and spending approaches, ways to address issues of origination and credit, measuring the impact of public and media relations, and other ways to strengthen your bottom line.

Moderator: Micah Buchdahl, President, HTMLawyers, Inc., Moorestown, NJ

Panel: James Diaferia, Partner, Infinite PR, New York, NY; Michael Nestor, Partner, Young Conaway Stargatt & Taylor, Wilmington, DE; Samuel Silver, Partner, Schnader Harrison Segal & Lewis LLP, Philadelphia, PA

11:15AM – 12:15PM

The Business of You—Surviving and Thriving in Big Law

Most attorneys at a big law firm assume that they do not need to market since they are working under the umbrella of their firm branding. At some firms, associates and partners are not encouraged to market themselves because the firms would rather have them billing than networking. However, in order to survive in the current legal market, it is a necessity for attorneys to market themselves, not only to clients and potential clients, but also to their colleagues and to the staff. In this program, we examine the paths and strategies of attorneys who are currently working or had previously worked at big law firms and how their various strategies have led to where they are today.

Moderator: Lyn Diaz, Attorney, Paul, Hastings, Janofsky & Walker LLP, Los Angeles, CA

Panel: Dianne Coady Fisher, Shareholder, Greenberg Traurig LLP, Philadelphia, PA; Justin Gdula, Associate, Dechert, LLP, Philadelphia, PA; James Gilliam, Deputy Executive Director, ACLU of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA

12:30PM – 2:00PM

Luncheon: Effects of Rankings & Ratings on the Legal Profession

Perhaps no other topic illicit greater response than the issue of rankings and ratings. There are literally thousands of companies playing in this space—from Chambers USA and Martindale to American Lawyer Media and Avvo. Which companies have the greatest impact? What are the ethical quandaries? How do you deal with so many surveys? What are the pros and cons of participation? The ABA Law Firm Marketing Strategies Conference continues to be at the forefront of this controversial subject. This roundtable program will feature participation from perspectives that include law firm management, in-house counsel, traditional print and online rankings entities and the media.

2:00PM – 3:00PM

An Ethics Guide to Lawyer Marketing

This interactive program will use hypotheticals to cover various topics involved in lawyer marketing, including: the standards for judging lawyer marketing (including constitutional issues and the reach of a state's ethics rules); the rules governing content (including self-laudatory and unverifiable claims, testimonials and endorsements); law firm marketing issues (including Web sites and law firm names); individual lawyer marketing issues (including areas of practice, inclusion in honorary lists and descriptions of past successes); direct mail marketing; solicitation (including in-person and electronic solicitation); and the use of new technology in lawyer marketing.

Speaker: Thomas E. Spahn, Partner, McGuireWoods, McLean, VA

3:15PM – 4:15PM

The Power of Video in Lawyer Marketing

As technology evolves, so too does law firm marketing. In this panel, we will discuss how the use of technology, specifically video on the Web, can be a powerful boost to a marketing plan. We will review scenarios in which video is your optimum medium, as well as cover the pitfalls to be avoided. We will also touch upon the tools and how small and medium-sized firms and individual practitioners can stretch their marketing dollar to be as tech savvy as the big firms.

Moderator: Nick Gaffney, Partner, Infinite PR, San Francisco, CA

Panel: Kelvin Chin, Sales Director, Womble Carlyle Sandridge & Rice, PLLC, Washington, DC; Sarah Feingold, General Counsel, Etsy, Inc., Brooklyn, NY; Additional Faculty to be Announced

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 2011

10:00AM – 11:00AM

Social Media: Does Your Firm Marketing Plan Need A Face Lift?

Tired of the one size fits all social media “gurus” that tell lawyers to use social media as a marketing/advertising tool to reach potential clients and to follow a cookbook approach to things that you “must” do to get those clients flooding in? Then attend this session which will focus on the ways to use social media tools, where the primary focus is not marketing, but methods that fit your personality and comfort zone, that could yield both expected and unexpected marketing benefits.

Moderator: Steve Silverberg, Partner, Silverberg Zalantis LLP, White Plains, NY

Panel: Dennis Kennedy, In-House Counsel, MasterCard Worldwide, O’Fallon, MO; Tom Mighell, Senior Consultant, Contoural, Inc., Dallas, TX; Tim Stanley, CEO, Justia.com, Mountain View, CA

Associate Business Development Training

It’s not taught in law school, but it is a prerequisite for a successful career as a lawyer. Business Development. Associate Business Development training is designed to support the retention and advancement of a firm’s most valuable asset: its human capital. Firms that provide the tools attorneys need for success in their ongoing efforts to develop their practices and build a solid book of business, will find themselves with associates better able to contribute to the current, and future, bottom line. The techniques we will cover include programs and products designed to complement the myriad resources available to associates, with a focus on marketing and business development.
