The Admiralty and Maritime Law Committee is holding its Annual Writing Competition. Please submit all essays to James Koelzer at jpkoeizer@rkmc.com no later than April 11, 2014. Please include your ABA membership number with your submission.

All current law and LLM students are eligible to enter the competition. Participants may submit an essay prepared for a class, journal, or other publication.

All submissions should address a recent development in admiralty and maritime law.

All essays should be no longer than 20 pages, double-spaced, 12 point Book Antiqua (or similar) font, with footnotes and Bluebook formatting.

The Admiralty and Maritime Law Committee is the only committee in the ABA that is dedicated to maritime law issues. As part of the Tort Trial Insurance Practice Section within the ABA, the committee brings together attorneys for plaintiffs and defendants, in house counsel, and academics to facilitate the exchange of information and ideas, and to be a primary resource for education and knowledge about admiralty and maritime law issues.
