

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION

Saulius Mikalonis is an environmental attorney with over 20 years experience at the Bloomfield Hills office of Plunkett Cooney. Prior to attending law school, he worked with the Solar Lobby/Center for Renewable Resources in Washington, DC. In addition to practicing law, he is also a Board Member of the Detroit Regional Chapter of the United States Green Building Council, the Vice-chair for Sustainable Development of the American Bar Association Section on Environment, Energy and Resources Climate Change, Sustainable Development and Ecosystems Committee, and an adjunct professor at the Thomas M Cooley Law School, teaching a course entitled "Sustainable Development: Law and Policy." He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the University of Oregon School of Law with a Statement of Completion of its Environmental and Natural Resources Law Program.