The Standing Committee will proceed with implementation of the Strategic Plan, subject to final approval of funding during the Association's annual budgeting process. The Strategic Plan for Membership Growth, which outlines a strategy for the ABA to reach 500,000 members by the year 2010, consists of two parts: a) loyalty and positioning of the ABA brand and b) development of initiatives for particular segments of ABA membership.

2.4 Presidential Advisory Council on Diversity in the Profession Presentation Regarding the Conference "Embracing the Opportunities for Increasing Diversity Into the Legal Profession: Collaborating to Expand the Pipeline"

The Board heard a presentation from Evett Simmons, Chair of the Presidential Advisory Council on Diversity in the Profession, regarding the conference "Embracing the Opportunities for Increasing Diversity Into the Legal Profession: Collaborating to Expand the Pipeline," held in November 2005 at Rice University in Houston, Texas. The goals of the conference, in pertinent part, were to: a) examine where the legal profession stands with respect to pipeline diversity; b) produce an Online Diversity Directory, a comprehensive collection of programs and initiatives that enhance diversity in the pipeline to the legal profession; c) publish a Pipeline Projects Tool Book; and d) develop a follow-up plan that monitors and reports on the goals achieved in specific years.

The Board heard a presentation from Carol Dinkins, Chair of the ABA Journal Board of Editors; Robert Brouwer, ABA Journal Interim Publisher; and Liz Sullivan, Director of Marketing and Research for the ABA Journal, regarding the 2006 ABA Journal Media Kit. The Kit assists Journal sales representatives in selling advertising space to both legal business (e.g., Visa, Dell, Canon) and consumer (e.g., technology and travel) advertisers, which in turn, helps to generate a significant amount of non dues revenue for the Association.

2.6 Presentation Regarding the Pulse of the Legal Profession, 2005 – Final Report

Laura L. Metzger, Director of the ABA Market Research Department, presented to the Board a summary of “The Pulse of the Legal Profession, 2005—Final Report.” “Pulse” research seeks to identify emerging trends in the legal profession and to understand how the ABA can best serve lawyers in various practice settings and in various stages of their careers. In alternating years, the study is based on qualitative and quantitative approaches. The 2005 "Pulse" Report used qualitative techniques (i.e., focus groups), which allow participants to identify and discuss trends and issues in their own words. Significant issues and trends that emerged from the 2005 “Pulse” study include: a) the business orientation of law; b) concern regarding work/life balance; c) concern regarding law school debt; and d) changing law firm structures. The 2005 "Pulse" report concluded that although the ABA is generally held in high regard, most lawyers know little about what the ABA actually does; therefore, the most important thing that the ABA can do is to make lawyers aware of what the Association is doing and what it has to offer.

2.7 International Bar Association Report on Rule of Law Issues and Adoption of Resolution

The Board heard a presentation from Francis Neate, President of the International Bar Association (IBA). The IBA, comprised of approximately 20,000 individual lawyer members and over 195 organizational members, is the largest international bar association in the world. Mr. Neate commended the ABA for its international initiatives in Central Europe and Eurasia, Africa, Asia, and Latin America, which promote the Rule of Law, and urged that in the future the ABA and the IBA work together on projects of mutual interest. To that end, the ABA and IBA are organizing a series of regional seminars around the world. The first seminar will be held in September 2006, in Chicago, immediately preceding the 2006 IBA Annual Meeting.

Thereafter, the Board adopted the following resolution supporting the IBA’s campaign to advance the Rule of Law throughout the world:

Be it Resolved, That the American Bar Association, having adopted many policies in support of the Rule of Law throughout the world, supports the International Bar Association’s campaign to advance the Rule of Law throughout the world, as reflected in the Resolution passed by the IBA Council on September 29, 2005.

2.8 Status Report of Long Range Planning Committee

Michael A. Bedke, Chair of the Long-Range Planning Committee, presented a status report on the Committee’s work. The Committee was appointed by President Greco to update and implement the Strategic Plan adopted by the Board in August 2002. The Strategic Plan focuses on Association goals through funding priorities in the areas of: 1) image and rule of law; 2) membership services; 3) revenues; 4) programmatic priorities; and 5) Board management. The Plan is intended to be a work in progress to guide the Board in its fiscal decision making. The Long Range Planning Committee held its first meeting in Boston in October 2005. At that meeting, two subcommittees were formed. One subcommittee will develop several specific recommendations for implementation of the Long Range Plan, and the other will develop a mechanism to ensure that an ABA Long Range Plan is always in place and updated on a continual basis. It is anticipated that an updated Long Range Plan will be submitted to the Board for approval in June 2006.

President Greco appointed the Ad Hoc Committee on the International Guests Program (Program) to consider the existing Program and make recommendations as to its operations, particularly with respect to substantive programming for the guests. Armando Lasa-Ferrer, Chair of the Ad Hoc Committee, and Stephen Zack, a member of the Ad Hoc Committee, reported that the Ad Hoc Committee reviewed the results of surveys regarding the Program that were distributed to Program hosts by the ABA International Liaison Office. Based on its review, the Ad Hoc Committee concluded that the Program is very well received by international guests and serves a useful purpose. The Committee has made the following preliminary recommendations to strengthen and improve the Program: i) provide international guests with the option of having a host; ii) rely on past presidents, former members of the Board, and former leaders of the Section of International Law, rather than current Board members, to serve as hosts; iii) in addition to soliciting suggestions for the international roundtable discussion from the international guests, provide a list of roundtable discussion topics from which international guests can choose; and iv) continue the new practice of providing a list of CLE programs that might be of interest to international guests, including programs of the Section of International Law and other relevant sections.

c. Ad Hoc Committee on Substantive Issues

The Ad Hoc Committee on Substantive Issues was appointed to consider the way the Board and its meetings presently function. The Committee has made recommendations with respect to ways in which to better engage the interests and talents of members of the Board on issues of broader significance to the Association. Ad Hoc Committee Chair Louise Michaux Gonzales reported that the Committee asked the Board for its thoughts and comments regarding the Board and how it functions. Based on these comments, the Ad Hoc Committee determined that, generally, there are two types of issues the Board considers: i) issues that come before the Board and/or the Board committees and ii) other broader, substantive issues that do not come before the Board on a regular basis (e.g., Rule of Law issues, independence of the judiciary). To keep the Board better informed regarding the work of the Board committees, beginning with the February 2006 Board meeting, the Ad Hoc Committee identified and also asked each Board Committee Chair to identify matters of particular interest considered by each Board committee that would warrant further discussion by the full Board. In addition, the Ad Hoc Committee requested that Board members bring to its attention issues of broader significance that could be discussed by the full Board at future Board meetings.

d. Dues Pricing Strategy Advisory Group

The Dues Pricing Strategy Advisory Group was created to recommend the level of the planned Fiscal Year 2006-2007 dues increase to the Standing Committee on Membership and to the Finance Committee of the Board, and to strategically examine the entire ABA dues structure to determine and recommend how to configure dues to best meet the objectives of the Strategic Plan for Membership Growth. James Baird, Chair of the Dues Pricing Strategy Advisory Group, reported that the Advisory Group has held two meetings and has four additional meetings scheduled. It is anticipated that the Advisory Group will submit a report to the Board within the next twelve to eighteen months.

2.10 Fund for Justice and Education
