

Local Police Fighting International Terrorism

Hilton New York
1335 Avenue of the Americas --- Gibson Suite, 2nd Floor

Saturday, August 9, 2008 -- 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m.

Sponsored by the ABA Standing Committee on Law and National Security and the Government and Public Sector Lawyers Division

What is the appropriate role of cities in national security? Join us for a discussion of the issues raised by increasingly sophisticated intelligence capabilities being developed at the local level in major cities, including a briefing on what cities and local police are doing to fight international terrorism. With particular emphasis on the intelligence activities in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, as well as the role of the FBI and other federal agencies in working with city officials, the program will examine the issues from local and federal law enforcement and intelligence perspectives. How do they interact? Have these cities gone too far?

Moderator: Harvey Rishikof, Professor of Law, National War College,
Washington, DC

Panelists: Susan N. Herman, Centennial Professor of Law, Brooklyn Law
School, Brooklyn, NY
Samuel Rascoff, Assistant Professor of Law, New York University
School of Law and former Director of Intelligence Analysis, NYPD
Michael Rolince, Senior Associate, Booz Allen Hamilton and former Chief of the FBI's International Terrorism Operations Section
John P. Sullivan, Lieutenant, Emergency Operations Bureau,
Tactical Planning Unit of the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department,
Los Angeles, CA

Tickets not required --- Complimentary CLE Credit Available

