Each state has different requirements for getting a civil domestic violence protection order. “Break the Cycle,” a national organization that engages, educates, and empowers youth to build lives and communities free from domestic violence, conducted a nation-wide review of state laws. They found common trends – both positive and negative – that directly impact the protection of teens.

Visit “Break the Cycle” online at <http://www.breakthecycle.org>, to learn about how state laws affect teens effected by domestic violence.
