As a service to our committee members we have compiled the following list of links to resources we believe may be of interest and use to committee members. No claim is made that this list is exhaustive. Indeed, we solicit readers to submit suggestions for additional links to post here. Please email the committee leadership not only with suggestions for additions, but also with comments on the links below.

We hope you find one or more of these worthwhile.

1. http://www.abanet.org/cpr/ The ABA Center for Professional Responsibility website, with links to a broad range of other resources.
3. http://www.legalethics.com/ A blog on ethics topics, with a focus on internet and electronic media related issues (although not to the exclusion of other concerns). Useful links to other resources.
4. http://legalethicsforum.typepad.com/blog/ An ethics "forum" in the nature of a blog on ethics and related topics. This site is useful and contains numerous links to other resources.
5. http://cowgill.blogs.com/legalethics/ A website hosted by a Kentucky lawyer who specializes in ethics and attorney discipline, and which contains links to other resources in the field.
7. http://www.scotusblog.com/movabletype/ A blog on Supreme Court decisions, arguments, and the like. Although not confined to compliance and ethics issues, this is an interesting blog with frequent posts and links to an assortment of articles and resources.
