

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- 2 MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR
The second column from this year's Chair of the Section of Science & Technology Law. By Stephen S. Wu
- 4 NCLS BRIEFING: A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF LAWYERS AND SCIENTISTS
By Jorge L. Contreras, Co-Chair, NCLS
- 6 PUBLIC HEALTH VERSUS PERSONAL LIBERTY: THE UNEASY CASE FOR INDIVIDUAL DETENTION, ISOLATION, AND QUARANTINE
Andrew Speaker's case against the CDC and the US Department of Health and Human Services highlights a crucial issue in public health law: the circumstances, if any, under which public officials may detain individuals against their will in order to protect the public from communicable diseases. When do utilitarian principles of social good trump the guarantees of individual rights afforded by the Constitution? By Jorge L. Contreras
- 10 TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY PUBLIC HEALTH
To encourage attorneys to prepare before the next disaster strikes, this article summarizes the key developments in public health legislation and policy since 2001 and previews the trends emerging from the decade-long shadow thrown by emergency readiness. By Christine M. Grant
- 16 THE ROLE OF ECOLOGICAL AND CLIMATE FORECASTING: DEVELOPING ADAPTIVE STRATEGIES IN A CHANGING ENVIRONMENT
The consensus of the scientific community is that climate change is occurring. The emerging field of ecological forecasting seeks to analyze oceanographic, geomorphic, climatic, and biological data to predict physiological stress on species. These and other forecasts should be incorporated into NEPA requirements and into other federal law. By John Adams Hodge
- 20 LEGAL TRENDS IN PROTECTING PERSONAL INFORMATION
Both public and private enterprises now store a vast majority of records in electronic format. When these records are left unprotected, nefarious individuals and organizations can use this information to commit fraud and various forms of identity theft. This article explores emerging concerns regarding how to protect digital information. By Michael Kearney
- 23 BOOK REVIEW: INFORMATION SECURITY AND PRIVACY: A PRACTICAL GUIDE FOR GLOBAL EXECUTIVES, LAWYERS AND TECHNOLOGISTS
By Eleanor Kellett
- 24 CPO CORNER: ALLEN BRANDT
An interview with Allen Brandt, Corporate Counsel and Chief Privacy Official for the Graduate Management Admission Council. By Ruth Hill Bro
- 28 B-TECH UPDATE
In this quarterly column, find coverage of organs on chips, MRSA, and anti-TNF therapy. By Calhoun "Reb" Thomas
- 30 E-TECH UPDATE
In this quarterly column, find coverage of first-to-publish patent reform. By Robert Bauer