William W. Oliver Professor of Tax Law
and Director of the Tax Program
Maurer School of Law, Indiana University

Professor Lederman teaches Federal Income Tax, Tax Procedure, Corporate Tax, and Tax Policy Colloquium at Maurer School of Law. She was a faculty member at George Mason University School of Law from 1997 until 2005. Lederman spent the 2002-2003 academic year at the University of Texas School of Law as a visiting professor. From 1994 to 1997, she was a member of the faculty of Mercer University's Walter F. George School of Law. In 2001, Professor Lederman was recognized by George Mason University for excellence in teaching; in 2005, she received the Law Alumni Association Legal Teaching Award from New York University School of Law; and in 2009, she received a Trustees' Teaching Award from the Maurer School of Law.

Professor Lederman received an A.B. degree cum laude from Bryn Mawr College in 1987, with honors in her major of Romance Languages. In 1990, she earned a J.D. cum laude from New York University School of Law, where she was a Note and Comment Editor of the N.Y.U. Law Review and was elected to the Order of the Coif. Professor Lederman subsequently earned her LL.M. in taxation from N.Y.U., where she was a student editor of the Tax Law Review. After practicing law as an associate at White & Case in New York City and receiving her LL.M., she clerked for Judge David Laro of the United States Tax Court in Washington, D.C.

Since she began teaching, Professor Lederman has written numerous articles on policy issues in the areas of federal income tax law (individual and corporate), tax controversies, and tax administration. Her work has included empirical analyses and a law-and-economics approach to tax issues. Professor Lederman is also the author of Understanding Corporate Taxation (2nd ed. 2006), and co-author (with Stephen W. Mazza of Kansas Law School) of the Tax Controversies: Practice and Procedure casebook (3rd ed. 2008); its teacher's manual; and a Code, Regulations, and Other Materials volume (3rd ed. 2006). Additionally, Professor Lederman served as General Editor of a treatise, Federal Tax Practice and Procedure (2003). Many of her articles are available for download on her SSRN Author Page.

Professor Lederman is admitted to the bars of the state of New York, the United States Supreme Court, and the United States Tax Court. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the National Tax Association. She is also the immediate past Chair of the Teaching Taxation Committee of the Tax Section of the American Bar Association and is an Associate Editor of the Tax Section's NewsQuarterly.
